ATLANTA PASSES COLDEST JUNE 9 IN HER HISTORY

Average Temperature for the Day Was 58 Degrees, and Next Lowest Was 61 in the Year 1897.

DROP OF 22 DEGREES WITHIN A FEW HOURS

Cotton Not Damaged to Any Material Degree, Says Commissioner of Agriculture J. J. Conner.

Atlanta passed the coldest day for the ninth of June ever experienced within thirty-five years, taking it by the average temperature, yesterday. Beginning late Sunday night, when the mercury stood at 81, a sudden drop was experienced, and by breakfast time Monday the thermometer registered 59, and by nightfall stood at 57.

The previous low average record for this day was made on June 9, 1897, when the average temperature for the entire day was 61 degrees. Monday's average was 58, bettering it by three degrees.

Not Coldest Day in June.

While Monday was extremely cold, it was not the coldest day in June, that occurring June 3, 1899, when the thermometer registered 35 degrees.

The average temperature for Monday was far lower than the average for the month of June, that being 75.5 degrees.

The sudden drop in temperature caused a scurrying to "uncle's" to get out of cold storage overcoats which the owners had thought could be laid aside at financial profit until winter. Others, more fortunate, hunted up the keys to the cedar chest, and threw the moth-balls away.

On the street the man with mohair garments, and the young chap who ventured out in light suits or duck trousers, attracted as much attention as Scotti strolling down Peachtree with the first straw hat of the season.

High Winds on Monday.

And the women suffered as well. A high wind which played no favorites swished the dainty light skirts hither and thither, and caused the summer hats to tug at their scant moorings.

Those who suffered the most were the barefooted newsies, who covered in corners of the big skyscrapers, and with chattering teeth cried all about the city.

Housewives who did their own work found that kittie had discovered a near-Florida by the stove, and that Fido preferred the warm pantry to the kennel by the back stairs.

According to the weather bureau, Atlanta is in for a spell of cold weather, and for the next four or five days it is thought that the temperature will fall. While no storms are expected, it is probable that a little cloudy weather will be experienced.

According to Weather Observer Vernon Hermann, this sudden drop in temperature was caused by some disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico, but exactly what he does not as yet know.

Cotton Crop Not Hurt.

Commissioner of Agriculture J. J. Conner, when seen in his office in the state capitol Monday in reference to the probable effect of the cold upon the cotton crop, was inclined to take a sanguine view of the situation. He did not think that the cotton had been damaged to any material degree by the low temperature so far and would not suffer much, provided the cold did not last too long.

"Of course, cotton cannot stand very much cold," he said, "but it is a continued spell of cold that hurts it most. We have had colder weather in June, one day in particular, some years ago, when it was cold enough for frost. Of course, if it continues cold for several days it will hurt, but I do not think farmers need be alarmed yet.

"Weather conditions are unfavorable today, it is true, but the cotton crop has such a good start and our reports from most sections of the state indicate that the outlook has improved greatly in the last ten days and the crop generally is in excellent shape."

The Man Who Needs

a suit of clothes, a hat, a pair of shoes or anything else for his personal comfort and adornment—the man who doesn't know where to go to buy, should read The Constitution advertisements.

When he does, he buys to best advantage. This season of the year generally finds many men with depleted wardrobes.

The things that lasted through winter and survived the early part of spring, now look ancient and woe-begone.

These must be replaced by the new-comers in the realm of things to wear. Business demands are such that most men must dress well, and naturally most men are just as eager to exercise economy as most women.

The Constitution ads will help you surprisingly, sir. Read them, and when you need a particular thing in clothing or its adjuncts, you will know precisely where to go when you start out to buy.

OVER THE BALKANS WAR CLOUD HOVERS

Servia and Greece in Better Position for War Than Bulgaria—Awaiting Reply to Servian Note.

London, June 9.—With both sides stubborn in refusing to make the slightest concession, war between the Balkan states is hourly becoming more imminent.

If Bulgaria sends a negative reply to the Servian note—and nothing indicates that she will answer otherwise—Servia and Greece will proclaim the annexation of the occupied Macedonian territories, thereby establishing a definite casus belli.

The only hopeful feature of the situation consists in the belief that Bulgaria is lacking the sinews of war. Servia and Greece are not only better situated in this respect, but also occupy superior strategical positions. These facts probably account for the calmness with which Servia apparently regards the prospects of war.

The ambassadorial conference today discussed the question of providing Servia with a commercial outlet to the sea. A tentative plan was adopted and will be submitted to the home government for further consideration.

A Sofia dispatch to The Daily Mail says that the departure for Belgrade of the Servian ministers, accompanied by his family, has caused much comment.

Bulgaria's reply to the Servian note, the dispatch adds, will be to the effect that Bulgaria is not in a position to make confessions of any kind, as she feels that she is absolutely in the right and that Servia's claims are totally unfounded.

Servia Prepares for War.

Belgrade, Servia, June 9.—General Raconnic Putnik, chief of the general staff of the Servian army, arrived here today by special train to attend the war council which will be held under the presidency of the king.

The Bulgarian reply to the Servian note respecting a revision of the treaty of allies, which is believed will be in the negative, is expected at an early date. Preparations for war continue and the hospitals are being opened.

JAPANESE SEEK LAND IN GEORGIA

Little Brown Men, Forced Out of California, Inquire of the Governor About Making Settlement Here.

Does Georgia want a colony of Japs? That is a question which the people of this state may have to answer for themselves in the near future.

Governor Brown was in receipt yesterday of a letter from R. P. Johnson, president of the Johnson American and Foreign Land exchange, of Washington, D. C., inquiring whether or not Georgia had a law prohibiting the alien ownership of land or placing any restrictions thereon. Mr. Johnson said that he represented a colony of thrifty Japanese, who were being forced out of California by the alien land ownership law recently enacted in that state, and who were seeking a location in Georgia.

Eyes Turned to South.

The writer of the letter further said he had been in correspondence with the owner of a large tract of land in this state who was willing to sell to the Japs, if they wanted to know whether the laws of the state made any discrimination against them and also whether or not there was any public sentiment against their settlement here.

The letter added that the eyes of the little brown men were now being turned to the south, since they had been made so difficult for them in the Pacific slope states, and he had not the least doubt but that a colony of several hundred to locate here in the near future provided there was nothing in the way of their acquiring land, but if so any public sentiment was not displeasing to the people.

Governor Brown said that he did not know of any law on the statute books of Georgia that would prevent the Japanese or anybody else who had the money to buy it from acquiring land in this state, but at the present time Mr. Johnson to the attorney general for an expert opinion on the subject.

Failing the First Time, He Tries Matrimony Again Only to Land in Calaboose

Mobile, Ala., June 9.—John Fowler, a local inventor, whose first wife, procured through an advertisement in a local newspaper a year ago, left him eight days after the ceremony, took a second venture into matrimony today. He married Mrs. Mary S. Maupin, where three children, he said, would be surety for her regular appearance at home.

Hardly had the fire on the new hearthstone been lighted tonight when a police officer stepped in and arrested the bridegroom on a charge of being a dangerous and suspicious character. The officer said the fire was too large for such a warm evening.

Mrs. Maupin took Mr. Fowler as her third husband. She says she married her first husband twelve years ago in the house in which President Wilson was born, in Staunton, Va.

TRIAL OF "BOSS" COX TAKES PLACE JUNE 18

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 9.—The trial of George B. Cox, financier and former political leader, on a charge of misapplication of $115,000 of the funds of the Cincinnati Trust company, today was set for Wednesday, June 18.

This will be the second trial of Cox, within the month, he having been dismissed last week from a charge of having misapplied $225,000.

WHAT IS SO RAW AS A DAY IN JUNE?

ATLANTA AD MEN OWN BALTIMORE

Gaily-Clad Local Delegation Showing Maryland People Why the Gate City Is Always in Lead.

By Fred Houser.

Baltimore, Md., June 9.—(Special.)—Nattily attired in gray suits, the delegates from Atlanta arrived at union station Sunday noon. There were forty men in the party, arriving over the Birmingham special of the Southern railroad, accompanied by ten delegates from Birmingham and five from Lynchburg, Va.

The delegation was generous in its advertisement for Atlanta. The word Atlanta was emblazoned on the special coaches. Each Atlanta delegate, with his gray suit, wore a blue tie, a straw hat with a blue band, blue silk hose and tan shoes, and carried a cane and white umbrella.

L. D. Hicks, our advance agent, had secured a huge tallyho. This was drawn through the streets of Baltimore by six beautiful black horses. Everywhere the delegation stopped, registration headquarters, hotels and at Druid Hill park, where the address of President George W. Coleman was delivered during the afternoon, they attracted considerable attention.

Visits Are Exchanged.

Albert S. Adams is chairman of the delegation, which is quartered at Hotel Rennert. Sunday night was given over to exchanging visits among the delegations.

Monday's session opened with George W. Coleman, president, presiding. Addresses of welcome were made by the governor of Maryland, Mayor James H. Preston and Edward J. Shay, president of the Advertising Club of Baltimore. Fred Johnson, of Dallas, Texas, responded.

Toronto, Canada, has been selected for the 1914 convention. It is reported in good authority that San Francisco and Chicago will both announce for 1915. Atlanta wants the ad men in 1916.

The Monday afternoon session was given over to a general meeting, with addresses by prominent advertising men on the scope and purposes of the convention.

Ladies attending the convention have been given more courtesies than ever before. Tuesday's entertainment: Among the entertainments for them are an all-day boat trip and an auto tour.

Plug Hat Luncheon.

The plug hat luncheon given by the Baltimore Ad Club Monday was quite a success. The chief feature of Monday was the night parade and advertising pageant. One hundred and fifty national advertising floats were in line. Atlanta delegation marched behind a huge coca-cola float and carried electric signs with "Atlanta Always Ahead" inscribed in large letters.

W. L. Halstead and Henry Grady are taking in every phase of the convention. Ivan Allen, president of Atlanta convention bureau, has been seen taking copious notes. President Harry Goodhart takes the convention as a very serious affair. The convention is a big success and we are having a royal good time.

Woodhead Is Next President.

After William Woodhead, of San Francisco, and Richard R. Updegraff, of New York, had been nominated for the presidency of the organization, Mr. Woodhead was given a clean field by the withdrawal of Mr. Houston, who appeared personally before the convention and requested that his name be dropped. The election of Mr. Woodhead will take place tomorrow.

Among those who made addresses at the afternoon session were: William Shaw, of The Christian Endeavor World, of Boston, and James Keeley, of The Chicago Tribune.

A message to President Woodrow Wilson to President Coleman was brought into the convention hall this afternoon by Frank Smith, one of ten Marathon runners of the Baltimore Cross Country club. The start was made at the White house at 11:34 o'clock this forenoon and the finish line in the Fifth regiment armory was crossed at 4:16 o'clock. The distance of a little over 40 miles was covered in 4 hours and 42 minutes.

President Wilson's Letter.

President Wilson's message was:

"My Dear Mr. Coleman: Allow me to avail myself of this occasion of the great meeting of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America to send my warm greetings to the convention and to express my hope that your sessions may give a fresh impulse to the work of your organization. Your slogan, 'Truth in Advertising,' ought to win to you, if lived up to, the support and admiration of the business community. Sincerely yours,

"WOODROW WILSON."

A pageant, headed by Governor Goldsborough and Mayor Preston in carriages, in which many novel advertising devices were displayed, passed through the principal downtown streets tonight.

Warring Thing of Past, Taft, Cannon, Underwood, Clark, Lunch Together

Washington, June 9.—Former President Taft spent several hours today with other members of the Lincoln Memorial commission, going over plans for the new $2,000,000 memorial to be erected in Washington.

Professor Taft was a luncheon guest of Speaker Clark at the capitol, with Democratic Leader Underwood and former Speaker Cannon.

The commission approved plans for the memorial drawn by Henry Bacon. No decision was reached as to the choice of a sculptor of the Lincoln statue.

Professor Taft visited the supreme court with Charles D. Hilles and Miss Mabel Boardman, during the rendering of decisions. Not within a generation has a former president visited that court when in session.

Takes Fatal Dose of Poison And Then Shoots at Passersby Until He Loses Consciousness

Pineville, Ky., June 9.—After D. B. Logan, Jr., 17 years old, had swallowed several grains of a drug he obtained by breaking into a drug store late yesterday, he stood in the street firing a revolver at pedestrians until the poison acted. None of the bullets took effect.

Just before losing consciousness, young Logan threw down his weapon and called a friend. Attempts to save his life were futile.

Logan was a son of one of the town's wealthiest business men.

Using Child's Body as Shield Cleveland Man Escapes From Vengeful Father With a Gun

Cleveland, June 9.—The police and a posse are searching today for a man who early today attacked Helen Lepereski, aged 3, and used the child's body as a shield when her father attempted to shoot him.

Helen and her baby brother sleep behind a window. The man, front of a home, around a building and escape. Two suspects are held.

Physicians say the child has a good chance of recovery.

"Bury A. H. McRae There," Is All the Relatives Wire When Told of His Death

Augusta, Ga., June 9.—(Special.)—"Bury A. H. McRae there," is the wording of a terse telegram received yesterday by J. Wilson, undertaker, in reply to his message to Max L. McRae, of McRae, Ga., a relative of the deceased man, inquiring what disposition should be made of the remains of A. H. McRae, an employee of the Commercial Index, who was found dead in his room at the Planter's hotel Thursday morning. Death was caused by an attack of acute indigestion according to Dr. R. Lundquist, who attended him during Wednesday night.

Mr. Wilson is at a complete loss to know what to do with the body, as it will be necessary to inter the remains at the expense of the city unless some provision is made by his relatives.

Preacher Would Substitute The Physical Examination For Marriage License Law

New York, June 9.—Diverse views of the eugenic movement are held in New York churches. Several addresses on the subject were delivered from local pulpits yesterday.

The Rev. George W. Grinton, secretary of the Methodist conference of New York, attacked the activity of churches in the movement as a "tenday fit of hysterics." He declared the betterment of the race would be furthered best by education and by the day fit of hysteria." He declared the present marriage license law which would require examination by state physicians of applicants for a marriage license.

Former Congressman William S. Bennett, in charge of a large meeting at the West End Presbyterian church, where four addresses favoring eugenic marriages were delivered, expressed pride in the fearlessness with which the church was treating the subject which deserved the strong support of all denominations.

Dr. Walter Laidlaw, of the federation of churches, recommended the organization of associations that would promote the pre-crediting of healthy

PROBE APPLIED TO EX-CONGRESSMEN

Lobby Investigating Committee Convinced It Has Seen a Flash of Underground Workings of a Lobby.

Washington, June 9.—Turning away from the examination of colleagues who might have been influenced in matters of legislation, the senate lobby investigating committee late today began to inquire into the Washington pursuits of those who might have exercised the influence.

With only half a dozen senators yet to take the witness stand, the majority of the committee is convinced that it has seen a flash of the underground workings of a lobby and believes that only patient search is needed to reveal the trail that will lead to the quarry.

The minority members apparently are not so certain that an "insidious" lobby will be discovered. The few senators who have not been heard are out of the city and will testify before the hearings are concluded.

Former Congressmen Examined.

One former senator and four former representatives, who admitted more or less interest in legislation at the capitol, but none would say that he considered his cause unjust, or that he had done anything improper.

Their work has been done in the open, they said, and consisted mostly in the filing of briefs before committees of congress, making oral arguments in behalf of clients and arranging for hearings for their employers. Senator Reed, the principal inquisitor, apparently expected to show that many men spend most of their time in Washington, with nothing to do but convince congress it is wrong about particular legislation.

Former Senator Charles A. Faulkner, of West Virginia, the first witness from the outside, told the committee he represented twenty-two of the big railroads of the country, and had represented them here for many years.

No Lobby, Says Faulkner.

Faulkner said he knew of no lobby that has ever been brought here in reference to railroad matters for the purpose of influencing members of congress.

"My business has been to find bills that affect railroads, send them to my clients, and give my opinion of them," he said. "If the railroads find something they regard as prejudicial or it they need amendment, they notify me to arrange a hearing before the committee in charge."

Senator Cummins said Faulkner had appeared four or five times before him and that questions at issue had been argued as they would in court.

The other former congressional witnesses were J. A. T. Hull, of Iowa; A. W. Kopp, of Wisconsin; Charles S. Bennet, of New York, and Charles B. Landis, of Indiana.

Two Years in Washington.

Mr. Hull said he had been out of congress for two years, and had been in Washington most of the time since. He had represented an association of corn products manufacturers in connection with the pending tariff bill, presenting his case by filing briefs with the house ways and means committee, and sending letters to senators. He had talked with Senator Cummins because the latter was familiar with the duties in which he was interested.

Mr. Hull said he had been interested also in legislation for the Veterinarian Association of the United States, which wished to obtain commissioned ranking for its members in the army; for a Mr. Baker, of Philadelphia, who was interested in the duty on cocoanuts, and for representatives of the government of Ecuador, who wished

RIGHT OF STATE TO CONTROL INTRASTATE RATES IS UPHELD

BACON CONTINUES FIGHT ON BLALOCK

Substantial Victory Won by the State of Minnesota in Decision of United States Supreme Court.

Tells President That Hitch Must Be Cared For—Resents Senator Smith's Attitude Toward Appointments.

DECISION WILL AFFECT MANY PENDING CASES

Justice Hughes Holds in Decision That the Authority of the State Over Intrastate Transportation Is State-Wide.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, June 9.—(Special.)—The announcement that A. O. Blalock, of Fayetteville, has been selected for collector of internal revenue for Georgia to succeed Henry S. Jackson, and that his nomination would shortly be sent to the senate, is premature.

This is one of the few federal officers whose jurisdiction extends over the whole state, including the southern as well as the northern judicial circuits.

Under the agreement entered into between the two Georgia senators, Senator Smith was to control patronage in the northern district and Senator Bacon in the southern. Both have announced their choice for collector of internal revenue. Senator Smith is supporting Mr. Blalock and Senator Bacon has put forward C. M. Hitch.

Until Mr. Hitch is provided with something just as good in the way of a federal office, Senator Bacon will not give his approval to the nomination of Blalock. This statement had been made repeatedly in the dispatches, and Senator Bacon has stated it freely to everybody who discussed the matter with him, including Senator Smith.

Bacon Calls on Wilson.

Senator Bacon called at the white house today to present to the president the name of Joseph S. Davis, of Albany, for appointment as marshal for the southern district of Georgia, and David C. Barrow for appointment as collector of the port of Savannah.

President Wilson received these suggestions and then himself brought up the question of the collectorship and advised Senator Bacon that Senator Smith wished Mr. Blalock named. Senator Bacon replied that he had not joined in making the nomination, and it would make emphatically not be acceptable to him. He said he had a candidate for the position in Mr. Hitch, and that unless the latter was provided for with an equally good place, he would continue to urge Mr. Hitch for collector. Until this is done, he has no other candidate for the office. The president suggested to Senator Bacon that he and Senator Smith confer and endeavor to reach an agreement.

Files Written Statement.

Later in the day Senator Bacon filed with the president a written statement of his attitude and a request that no nomination be sent to the senate until he and Senator Smith agreed upon a nominee.

In view of Senator Bacon's opposition to Mr. Blalock, the report that the latter would be nominated, is therefore, premature to say the least of it. Of course, he may land later, but it will only come about through Mr. Hitch being given a position equally as good and which will satisfy all parties.

Delay in Davis Nomination.

Senator Bacon's action in withholding until today the nomination of Joseph S. Davis for marshal of the southern district was out of the usual course for senatorial courtesy, and not an indication that he has ever wavered in his support. Two months ago Mr. Bacon made up his mind, and he has stood by Mr. Davis ever since.

Under the agreement between the two senators designed to promote harmony and amity, neither was to appoint anyone whom the other objected to for these reasons.

Accordingly Senator Bacon, the nominee must not be one whose activity was of such rank partisanship as to be personally offensive, but a friend of one senator was not to be turned down merely because he had opposed the other politically and in a fair and legitimate way.

According to Senator Smith, one who had actively opposed him in any of his campaigns ought not to be nominated by his colleague, Senator Bacon.

Question Still Open.

This question of interpretation of the agreement is still open. It would require a supreme court decision to finally settle it.

This question of interpretation came up when Senator Bacon notified Senator Smith that he intended to nominate Joseph S. Davis for marshal. Senator Smith replied that Davis was his political opponent, and indicated that Senator Bacon should name another man.

"Nothing doing," said Senator Bacon, or words to that effect. He indicated pretty plainly that he could not afford to turn down a lifelong friend because he had happened to get off Senator Smith's political reservation. This the situation continued for weeks, Senator Bacon standing firmly by his nominee, and Senator Smith construing the agreement between them as forbidding anti-Smith man from being named in south Georgia.

Bacon Takes Initiative.

Finally last week Senator Bacon concluded he had waited as long as courtesy to his colleague and a decent regard for their agreement warranted him in waiting. On Saturday afternoon he gave out his decision, and today recommended Mr. Davs to the president.

Both Senators have expressed to the other the desire that there should be no friction or disagreement between their over federal patronage, but Senator Smith is seeking to keep any of his political opponents out of office, and Senator Bacon is insisting that he will not sacrifice his personal friends because they did not happen to support Senator Smith. If Senator Smith continues to show a disposition to dictate south Georgia appointments, Senator Bacon will stick his finger in the north Georgia patronage pie. Then there will come a tug of war such as has rent with dissension the senators from other states.

COMPTROLLER ISSUES CALL FOR STATEMENTS

Washington, June 9.—The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for a statement of the condition of all national banks of the United States at the close of business Wednesday, June 4.

the statement of the court that each case of alleged confiscation must rest on its own bottom, might mean the setting aside of the Missouri and Arkansas laws.

The states of Oregon and Kentucky were regarded as almost certain to win their rate cases, involving the validity of state freight rates, because in each instance practically the only objection to the laws was their reputed interference with interstate commerce.

For a like reason many believed that the West Virginia 2-cent passenger law would be upheld.

The decision was announced by Justice Hughes and consisted of some 25,000 words. The court was unanimous, with the exception of Justice McKenna, who merely concurred in the results.

Considered in Two Phases.

Justice Hughes considered the attack upon the state rates in two phases, the one that they placed an unlawful burden on interstate commerce, and the other, that they were so low as to confiscate the property of the railroads.

In considering the interstate commerce phase, he took it for granted that the state had the power to regulate rates between points within the state of Minnesota on railroads not crossing state lines, and so far from the boundaries as not to compete with cities of other states or otherwise affect interstate commerce.

He next reached the conclusion that intrastate rates, whether on purely intrastate railroads or interstate railroads, had not been regarded by the courts as being a direct regulation of interstate commerce. He pointed to the regulation of rates on railroads in Illinois and the Erie canal in New York by the respective states concerned, in support of his conclusion.

The most intricate argument in this phase of the controversy was made by the justice in considering whether state rates on interstate carriers could have such an indirect bearing on interstate commerce as to exclude the states from imposing them. He reached the conclusion that this was a really known field, in which the states could exercise their authority until congress had been fit to regulate the field exclusively.

Expressly Provided For.

Finally he arrived at the conclusion that congress, in all its rate-making legislation, had expressly provided that the regulation should not extend to transportation wholly within a state.

Justice Hughes reviewed decisions of the court from its very foundation. "Our system of government is a practical adjustment," said he, "by which the national authority as conferred by the constitution is maintained in its full scope without unnecessary loss of local efficiency. Where the subject is peculiarly one of local concern, and from its nature belongs to the class with which the state appropriately deals in making reasonable provision for local needs, it cannot be regarded as left to the unrestrained will of individuals because congress has not acted, although it may have such a relation to interstate commerce as to be within the reach of the federal power. In such case congress must be the judge of the necessity of federal action, the paramount authority always enables it to interpose at its discretion for the complete and effective government of that which has been committed to its care, and for this purpose and to this extent, in considering the interstate commerce phase, he took it for granted that the state had the power to regulate rates between points within the state of Minnesota on railroads not crossing state lines, and so far from the boundaries as not to compete with cities of other states or otherwise affect interstate commerce.

Confiscatory Rates.

In taking up the confiscatory phase of the controversy, Justice Hughes first considered whether the rates were confiscatory as applied to the Northern Pacific. He said this would turn upon what was the "fair value" of the railroad's property. He tested the lower court's theory of arriving at a fair value by finding "the reproduction cost new" by ascertaining how this theory worked on the value of the railroad's lands. He declared the lower court was in error, in adding 20 per cent to the normal value of its land in some instances and 200 per cent at the big terminals in arriving at what the court considered the cost of reproducing its property.

Apportionment of Valuation.

In considering the apportionment of valuation between interstate and intrastate business upon the "gross revenue basis," Justice Hughes said that the division should be made according to the use that is made of the property. He declared that this use could not be measured by the return, when the return itself was in question. "If the return be taken as the basis," said he, "then the validity of the state's reduction of rates would have to be tested by the very rates which the state denounced as exorbitant." He added that it would be possible to ascertain "some kind of use units" by which the property could be divided both between interstate and intrastate on the one hand, and between freight and passenger business on the other. He did not point out what this unit would be.

Applying these principles to the Northern Pacific, the justice held that neither the value of the property employed, nor the share of expenses attributable to intrastate business had been proven satisfactorily to show that the railroad's property was confiscated. A similar conclusion was reached by applying the principles of the Great Northern railroad.

Coming to the Minneapolis and St. Louis he found that the net return in 1908, to that road, was less than 3-12 per cent, and that the errors of estimating value and of apportionment were not sufficient to change the result.

Asserts Power of Congress.

Officials of the department of justice interpreted the decision as asserting the power of congress to legislate regarding intrastate rates if congress believes that interstate and intrastate commerce has become so blended as to make it impossible to disassociate the two classes of rates. They declared that whereas congress had not yet undertaken to regulate intrastate rates because of their relation to interstate rates, the power of such regulation rests in congress, according to today's decision.

"The decision," said one official, "clearly puts the question of further regulation up to congress."

"The Minnesota cases," said Mr. Dodson, "relate to an indirect effect upon interstate commerce while the Shreveport case involves a direct and intentional interference with interstate commerce by the state of Texas. Furthermore, the interstate commerce commission has taken action to relieve this interference. I think the court's decision clearly leaves open the issues of direct interference involved in the Shreveport case."

RAILROAD OFFICIALS MAKE FEW COMMENTS

New York, June 9.—Railroad officials were reluctant to express an opinion tonight as to the effect of the supreme court's decision in the Minnesota rate case upon the broad issues involved on the plea that they had not received sufficiently comprehensive advices to enable them to grasp its full significance. Justice Hughes had not completed reading the decision until long after most railroad men had left their offices. Those who remained to await abstracts of the decision said that until they had opportunity to study the full text they could make no comment.

The first news from Washington of the decision reached the financial district more than an hour after the stock market closed. Wall street had formed its own conclusions as to the probable action of the supreme court and it had been generally expected that the decision would be against the state of Minnesota.

Stock exchange brokers with foreign connections were in active communication tonight with their correspondents abroad and the effect of today's decision is expected to find clear reflection in the London stock market early tomorrow morning and later in the local market.

MINNESOTA OFFICIALS ELATED OVER DECISION

St. Paul, Minn., June 9.—State officials said early tonight that the long-drawn-out Minnesota rate case tonight were elated over the decision of the United States supreme court and were unanimous in declaring it a great victory for the state.

As a result of the decision several railroads operating in Minnesota will pay into the state treasury approximately $3,000,000 in the shape of overcharges.

The state legislature passed a law requiring all roads to "keep books" covering all freight charges made and to file the same monthly with the state.

This was done to allow persons overcharged to collect the difference should the state win.

In order that shippers might not be hampered by annoying litigation, the legislature directed that when the case was settled, if in favor of the state, the money controversy should be turned over to the state and returned to persons overcharged.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED TO NAVAL STORES MEN

On Technicality Supreme Court Reverses Decision of Federal Court.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, D. C., June 9.—(Special.)—The supreme court today on a technicality reversed the federal court at Savannah in the naval stores cases because of the judge's charge to the jury.

The anti-trust law was upheld as a criminal statute and the contention of Edmund S. Nash and other naval stores operators of Savannah, that the law was vague and indefinite, was overturned. It is valid and effective, said the court, and every business man must take notice.

Today's decision would have marked an important new step in anti-trust legislation, and the application of the criminal sections of the law, if Judge W. B. Sheppard, of Florida, who presided in the absence of Judge Speer had not erred in his charge to the jury. But this charge was unfair to the defendants, said the supreme court. The defendants must now stand a new trial. The case has been in the courts since May 1, 1907.

Judge Shepard in his charge said that the jury should consider the evidence and the means which the government held showed conspiracy. If some of the means alleged in the various counts were part of a common scheme or design or conspiracy to obstruct commerce and trade it was sufficient to sustain a finding of guilty.

"This while it may be admitted that not all the means alleged need be proved, the charge invited the jury to consider all and permitted a verdict on any one of them," said the supreme court. Some of the counts were abandoned, and others might have constituted only cheating and swindling, said the court, and not a violation of the anti-trust act.

PATTERSON APPROVES PENAL SYSTEM PROBE

Believes Good Will Come From Investigation of System and Court Procedure.

Indication that the proposal to appoint a legislative commission to make a thorough investigation of the penal system of Georgia in the broadest sense, will have the indorsement and approval of the prison commission itself, is apparent from an interview from Judge T. E. Patterson, of Griffin, a well-known member of the prison board.

It is not designed that this commission shall investigate any particular camp or camps, nor officials and employees, but the system itself, and criminal court procedure. The purpose is to go into the principles controlling the system, find out where they are at fault and propose remedies, which will get to the very root of Georgia's penitentiary arrangements.

"There is no question in my mind that such a commission should be appointed," said Judge Patterson.

"Of course, while we are seeking to conduct the penitentiary system in the best possible manner under present laws, we realize, at least I do, that the system is far from perfect. It has its good points, but it also has its defects, and I am confident that a properly constituted commission, given sufficient authority in the matter and securing evidence and information, could point out these defects and suggest the most efficient remedies. So far as the commission is concerned, I feel sure it would be glad to see such an investigation of the system made.

"Along the same line I might say that the proposal to confer upon the judges of courts discretionary powers in the matter of suspending sentences, meets my approval.

It is expected that the resolution providing for the creation of the legislative commission to investigate Georgia's penitentiary system will be introduced early in the coming session, and it will have behind it the support and influence of a number of leading members.

government engineers to investigate sanitary conditions there. He also figured in legislation affecting the telephone company in the District of Columbia.

"I suppose you would accept employment from any institution or concern that wanted you to appear before committees of congress, so long as you regard the matter as public and straightforward?" asked Senator Reed.

"I would," answered Mr. Hull.

"That may be said to be your present occupation and employment?"

"I would hardly like to say that," was the reply.

Talked to Three Representatives.

Mr. Kopp declared he had spent probably three weeks in Washington shortly after his retirement from congress in March. Although he had once declined, he said, at the earnest solicitation of people in his home district, he had come back to Washington to present arguments in behalf of the lead and zinc schedules. The ways and means committee had completed its work, he added, and the only three members he talked to were Representatives Kitchen, Collier and Decker.

Former Congressman Bennet told of filing a brief in behalf of the Diamond Trade Tariff league, interested in the diamond schedule. He saw two members of the sub-committee in charge of the schedule during an hour's stay in Washington.

Mr. Bennet said he also had filed briefs and made arguments for lace manufacturers.

Mr. Landis, out of congress for four years, said he had been in the employ of the duPont Powder company for three years. His principal business with the concern was to build up the South American trade. He was a member of the house foreign affairs committee, he said, and believed that fact had had something to do with his employment, which came unsolicited by him. He spent much of his first year with the powder company here, but for the last two years has been an infrequent caller.

Long Cross-Examination.

Senator Reed conducted a long cross-examination of the witness about that first year in Washington. Mr. Landis said he had spent much of the time before departments and some time before the house naval affairs committee.

"Were you interested in the ship subsidy?" asked Senator Reed.

"I delivered a lecture on it for the Merchant Marine league, of Cleveland."

"That was generally known as the ship subsidy lobby?"

"No, sir; I think not. It never lobbied me."

The committee adjourned until tomorrow at the conclusion of his testimony.

AT THE THEATERS.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Despite the fact that there are a number of attractive women on the bill at the Forsyth—and, of course, the tendency of the critic is to favor them—the men hold their own with ease this week.

The majority of the applause on Monday afternoon and evening went to Travato, the eccentric violinist; Chick Sale, the impersonator, and Johnny Burke, of the team of Johnny and May Burke.

As Burke was the first to come on, playing in No. 3, it's just as well to say a word right now about his skill in playing the piano. The act was a deal one Monday until Johnny sat down on the piano stool and began "fooling the ivories," then the number became a riot.

He played with one hand; he played with both hands; in fact, he did just about what he wanted with the instrument, and no matter what he did, the people in front seemed to be with him.

Travato was left at the post Monday afternoon, but with this handicap managed to come out winner by a number of laps. His costume and evening hadn't arrived, so he told the audience, the lights didn't work right and other things conspired against him, but when he began to play that violin people forgot the minor drawbacks.

He differs from the ordinary artist who entertains on the stage in that he can really play the violin as well as fake.

Give him selections that require skillful handling and he is perfectly at home. Give him a chance to "rag" and he makes the most of it.

It looked for a while as if he was going to have rather a hard time of it Monday, but suddenly after playing some three or four measures he switched into the old favorite, the "Robert E. Lee" and from that time on he found everybody in the busy little theater.

Chick Sale is appearing here for the second time, using the same act as before. Sale is, in the line of imitation, the ablest of all the inspersonators on the stage today.

His setting is that of a school house, and he enters to the tune of "School Days." It is commencement time, and all the children and the members of the school board are supposed to be sitting in front and the little ones are to show what they can do.

Mr. Sale, taking the audience as if it were a part of his own act, and reproving them, especially Susy, when necessary, introduces the girl and the teachers and members of school board with perfect art.

The headliner for the week is Roehm's Athletic Girls, who give an exhibition of fencing, boxing, punching, posing and wrestling. The act is a good one and the wrestling number between two pretty girls is the best of their offering.

Gordon Dickens and company present a neat sketch. Misses Addles and Mayo offer a line of songs and chatter, and the Steiner trio open in an acrobatic number.

Musical Comedy Tabloid.

(At the Bijou.)

With a sprinkling of ditty, dance and dialogue, "Hiram at the Cabaret" proved a winner at the Bijou last night, opening their new tabloid show for the week.

There is as much plot to "Hiram" as there is sunshine in a picture. It is a good business man, who likes to look upon a pretty face, hear a dainty song and watch Jimmy Hunter dance.

Hunter is the entire show, and his Cohanesque motions remind one of George C. during a rag time melody with his pedal extremities.

The girls are extremely dainty and as lively as the best in a regular Broadway attraction. It's worth seeing—go.

LEO FRANK REPORTED READY FOR HIS TRIAL

Many Witnesses Are Being Examined Every Day by Attorneys for the Defense.

That counsel for Leo Frank is ready for trial was freely reported over the city Monday.

Attorney Luther Z. Rosser, his lawyer, when asked regarding this report, gave the reply that has been characteristic of his attitude during the Phagan case.

"I have nothing to say." He would in nowise commit himself.

It is understood, however, that Mr. Rosser has informed friends that the defense is ready, and that there will be no delay in putting it before the jury which is to try the pencil factory superintendent. In fact, it is stated, Frank's counsel is desirous of an early trial.

Many witnesses are being examined daily by Frank's attorneys. Pencil plans, employees and character witnesses by scores will assist his counsel. Secrecy is thrown around the nature of all testimony.

Chief Lanford said Monday that he had finished examining Jim Conley, the negro sweeper, and that unless the prosecuting detectives desire to make further voluntary admissions, he would not again be questioned.

Detectives Scott Ellicott and John Black spent the early part of last night searching for the victim's mesh bag. After hours of hunting on the premises of the pencil plant they were unable to discover a clew. The bag is wanted to examine the finger prints on it.

LIVES ENDANGERED AT DEPOT IN GRIFFIN

Three Trains Arrive Simultaneously on Parallel Tracks, Says Petition.

Griffin, Ga., June 9.—(Special.)—The situation regarding the safety of people alighting from trains at the Griffin depot has reached such an acute stage that a petition has been sent in by the citizens of Griffin to the railroad commission, in which the request is made that the commission force the railway companies to provide protection.

At the depot at 9 o'clock every morning three passenger trains are discharging and receiving passengers at the same time. The trains arrive at the same time, coming in from different directions, and come to a stand on parallel tracks. Parties wishing to board the two trains farthest from the depot are compelled to stand between the tracks, while trains approach from different directions. Baggage is unloaded between these tracks and trucks are pushed back and forth in the narrow space. Women and children standing in the narrow way between trains have on several occasions been snatched from the path of an engine just in time to be saved from death.

Only a day or so ago Miss Bessie Green, aged 16, was caught between the Southern and Central tracks, when trains were moving on each track, and knocked unconscious by the Southern train.

Commission Will Investigate.

Chairman Murphy Candler, of the railroad commission, said last night that the commission had received a petition from Griffin complaining of the dangerous conditions brought about by the arrival of three trains at the station there at the same time. The roads complained of are the Central and the Southern. The commission will probably take the matter up at its meeting this week and endeavor to find a solution that will be satisfactory to the Griffin people.

Grasshoppers by Millions Being Killed in Kansas By a Peculiar Growth

Lawrence, Kan., June 9.—Grasshoppers which appeared in great numbers in Ness county, Kansas, last week are being killed by millions by a form of fungus according to reports received today from special investigators for the state agricultural department.

A shipment of weeds on which are clusters of dead grasshoppers has been sent to the University of Kansas here. The fungus is being studied to see if it be possible to distribute it.

The hoppers are a local species which live, breed and die on the farmer's ranch.

REVISION OF TAX BIGGEST PROBLEM

Treasurer Speer Regards the Question as Most Important This Year—Moon Has Drawn Bill.

That the revision of the tax system so as to put the state on a better financial basis is by far the most important problem that will engage the attention of the legislature this summer was the opinion of State Treasurer W. J. Speer expressed yesterday. Mr. Speer believes that a much larger revenue may be raised, without any increase of the tax rate which the voters will hardly consent to, by putting tax assessments throughout the state on a just and equitable basis.

Outlook for Solution Good.

"The great problem in Georgia now is to get all the property that belongs there on the tax books and to get it entered at a valuation that will deal justly with all the taxpayers without discrimination," he said. "If the legislature this year solves this problem, it will have done more for the people of the state than any other legislative body in recent years. It is an old question and a difficult one, but I believe the outlook for its solution this year is better than it has been in a long time.

"I know that we had a law providing for tax equalizers some years ago, but the law proved unpopular and was repealed. I am certain, however, that if we try a law out providing for equal taxation among individuals and counties, the people will in time come to recognize the elementary justice of it and give it their indorsement."

The Case of Kansas.

The treasurer cited, as an illustration of what might be expected from a proper revision of the law, the remarkable change in Kansas brought about by the reorganization of the tax system of that state.

"A short time ago," he said, "the tax rate in Kansas was from 6 to 10 mills and there was a world of complaint among the people about the burden of taxation. Since the law has been changed, taxable values in that state have jumped from $700,000,000 to about two billions, and the tax rate has been reduced to less than 2 mills. So you see that with a legislature that will hold down appropriations to a strictly economical basis, there will be no increase in the tax burden by a change in the law so as to compel fair returns."

Mr. Speer was not familiar with the details of the Kansas law, but he knew that it had worked a remarkable revolution in conditions in that state in a very short time.

The Comptroller Hopeful.

Comptroller General Wright is more hopeful of a tax revision law by this general assembly than he has been in years. He said:

"There seems to be more serious interest taken in the subject by members of the legislature than has been before and I believe that a good law will be enacted this summer. It will go a long way towards securing the proper legislation if the press will keep the matter alive before the people."

It was learned that another member of the incoming house has prepared a bill dealing with the subject of tax revision, namely E. T. Moon, one of the representatives from Troup. This makes three members of the incoming house who are known to be giving serious attention to the subject, F. A. Lipscomb, of Clarke, and O. Y. Gower, of Crisp, being the other two. Attention has already been called to the work of the last two in the direction of tax reform.

Noted Illustrator Gives Aid To Uncle Remus Association

Mrs. H. H. Fudge, chairman of the postcard and souvenir committee of the Uncle Remus Memorial Association, is to be congratulated on her efficient and successful work. The postcards and souvenirs have been so popular and the sales so encouraging that Mrs. Fudge decided to get out some new designs—among them another picture of Uncle Remus.

Through the kindness of Miss Katherine Wooten, of the Carnegie library, Mrs. Fudge has received permission from Mr. Frost, the famous illustrator to whom Mr. Joel Chandler Harris dedicated one of his popular books, to photograph his studies in the beautiful Uncle Remus fireplace in the children's reading room at Carnegie library. Mr. Frost not only wrote Miss Wooten giving his consent for the Uncle Remus association to make copies of this artistic fireplace and mantel, but offered to contribute a drawing of Brer Rabbit for the Wren's Nest.

The Uncle Remus mantel and fireplace is one of the attractions at Carnegie library. It is composed of Dutch tiles and white tiles which were made from the original drawings of Uncle Remus and the Lil' Boy, Brer Rabbit, Brer Fox, Sis Cow, etc. The panel above the fireplace is white bordered with laurel leaves in the center of which surrounded by a wreath of laurel stands a little rabbit.

On each side of the wreath of laurel above the fireplace are the following lines:

"The world is so full of a number of things,
I am sure we should all be as happy as kings."

NEW COUNTY ADVOCATES SECURE HEADQUARTERS

Boosters of Movement to Give Metter a Courthouse Lodged in the New Kimball.

The committee in charge of the movement to create the new county of Candler is the first on the field in the matter of securing headquarters in Atlanta, in anticipation of the coming legislative session. Secretary F. H. Sills, of Metter, was here Saturday and secured two rooms on the parlor floor of the Kimball house, where the people of Metter will entertain their friends.

This is only a beginning. By the time the legislature meets, the hotel lobby will present the appearance of a full fledged convention with banners streaming in every direction, announcing various new county movements.

"We have received some splendid assurances of support," said Mr. Sills, "and I am more confident than ever that the coming legislature will authorize the establishment of Candler county with Metter as the county seat. We have received pledges of support from 153 out of 184 members of the house of representatives, which is more than two-thirds majority, and I believe some of the others will come to us when the time comes."

GUNMEN ARRESTED AFTER PAYING FINES FOR DEPREDATIONS

Jesup, Ga., June 9.—(Special.)—Sol and Jake Williams, who terrorized West Broad street Sunday night, pleaded guilty to the charge of drunk and disorderly conduct in police court this morning and were fined $30 with an alternative of sixty days on the streets.

The fine was paid this afternoon and the men were rearrested on warrants charging Sol Williams with carrying a pistol concealed and with pointing a pistol at another not in self-defense. Jake Williams was charged with assault and battery in two cases.

Both men demanded indictment by the grand jury which meets next November. Sol Williams is being held under a bond of $350 and Jake Williams is under a bond of $300 pending action by the grand jury.

GEORGIA DRUGGISTS MEET IN COLUMBUS

Columbus, Ga., June 9.—(Special.)—Druggists from various sections of the state are arriving tonight to attend the annual session of the Georgia Pharmaceutical association which begins Tuesday morning. The sessions will be held in the superior court-room.

The convention will last two days and will be marked by papers, addresses and entertainment features.

Several distinguished members of the profession from other southern states will attend as special guests of the association.

WORLD CONFERENCE OF ADVENTISTS ENDS

Washington, June 9.—The world conference of Seventh Day Adventists concluded its twenty-four-day quadrennial session at Takoma Park, Md., and thousands of delegates from all parts of the world left for their homes. The next meeting place has not yet been selected.

The only business transacted today was the appointment of Elder A. J. Haysmer, of Nashville, Tenn., as president of the West Indian conference, and of Elder W. R. White, of South Lancaster, Mass., as president of the South African Union conference, with headquarters at Capetown.

JESUP MEN INJURED WHEN MULE RUNS AWAY

Jesup, Ga., June 9.—(Special.)—J. V. Roberson, a well-known sawmill man, and Dan Lane, a farmer, were painfully injured in a runaway this morning when they were caught between an overturned buggy and a tree.

The men were driving a mule down the street when the animal became frightened and shied around a corner, capsizing the buggy, throwing the men against a tree.

Roberson was severely injured in the back and side, having six ribs broken. Lane's injuries consisted of a broken hand and bruises on the body where he struck the tree.

EMORY PLEADS TODAY FOR COLLEGE SPORTS

Students and the Alumni Join Forces—Dr. Dickey, Foe to Movement, Re-Elected.

Oxford, Ga., June 9.—(Special.)—Dr. James E. Dickey, who is quoted as declaring he would resign if intercollegiate athletics were ever introduced at Emory college, was re-elected today for the usual three-year term at the first meeting of the trustees.

At the same time the trustees, after considerable argument, decided that they would allow the student body and the alumni one hour Tuesday morning in which to put forth their plea for the introduction of the system of athletics that is allowed in practically every other college in the country and which the students and a number of the trustees claim is the only cure for the falling off in attendance of the Oxford institution.

Those favoring the new system claim that the election of Dr. Dickey to his position again does not necessarily mean that their cause is lost, as numbers of the trustees have already declared themselves in favor of the change in athletics.

Lamon Foreman, of Atlanta, and J. E. Mathews, president of the Student Body association, will appear before the trustees Tuesday morning in behalf of the petition and both will make short talks. Mr. Foreman will represent the alumni who are clamoring for the change, and Mr. Mathews, who is known as the best speaker and debater in Oxford, will speak for the student body, which is unanimously with him.

At the election of college officials Dr. C. E. Boyd, of the Woman's college, of Tallahassee, Fla., was chosen to succeed Professor A. G. Sanders in the chair of Greek. Dr. Boyd is a graduate of Wofford college and received his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Wisconsin.

No one has yet been secured to take the place of Dr. F. N. Duncan, of the chair of biology, who has resigned to accept a similar position in a new university in Dallas, Texas.

BOY DIES AS RESULT OF EXPLODING CAPS

Jesup, Ga., June 9.—(Special.)—The 15-year-old son of farmer Bud Kennedy, who was wounded yesterday morning when a box of percussion caps exploded in his pocket, died last night soon after his leg was amputated near the hipjoint.

The boy was badly cut and torn by the force of the explosion and his leg was almost blown off between the hip and knee and the thigh bone was shattered.

WASHINGTON OFFICIALS TO GREET DR. MULLER

Brazilian Minister of Foreign Affairs Comes to U. S. to Repay Root's Visit.

Washington, June 9.—Senator Root, Major General Wood, chief of staff of the army; Dudley Field Malone, assistant secretary of state, and a distinguished party of officials left here today on the government yatchts Mayflwore, Sylphy and Dolphine for Hampton Roads to greet Dr. Lauro Muller, Brazilian minister of foreign affairs, who lands there tomorrow.

The Brazilian minister comes to repay the visit of Mr. Root to South America, when he was secretary of state. An elaborate program of official functions has been arranged for the distinguished guest while he is in this country.

The official party from Washington is expected to arrive in Hampton Roads tomorrow, when a convoy of American warships will steam out to sea to meet the Brazilian warship, Minas Geraes, aboard which is the Brazilian minister. After being received by Secretary Bryan and inspecting Port Monroe, the party will leave for Washington tomorrow night. Wednesday Minister Muller will be received by President Wilson, who will give a reception in his honor.

Secretaries Bryan, Garrison and Daniels, John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American union; Ambassador Da Gama, of Brazil; Senior Rodrigues, editor The Journal de Commercial of Rio de Janeiro, a close personal friend of Dr. Muller; E. L. Chermont, counselor; Lieutenant Commander Aquino, naval atache, and J. F. de Barros Pimentel, second secretary, all of the Brazilian embassy here; General Erasmus M. Weaver, chief of coast artillery; Lieutenant Commander B. C. Bulmer, United States navy; Captain Le Vert Coleman, United States army, and Charles Lee Cooke, state department atache, were among the officers in the welcoming party.

Brazilian Ship Off Coast.

Norfolk, Va., June 9.—The Brazilian dreadnaught Minas Geraes, bearing Dr. Lauro M'ller, Brazilian minister of foreign affairs, coming to the United States to return the official visit to Brazil by former Secretary of State Root, was today proceeding slowly up the coast, expecting to be off the Virginia capes early tomorrow.

OUTSTARVES WOLVES TO GET $100 SCALP BOUNTY

La Crosse, Wis., June 9.—Outgaming a pack of wolves by going without food for four days and nights and without sleep, except fitful doses, Owen Hughes, who for that length of time, lay in front of a den in which the wolves had taken refuge near Angelo township, had his perseverance rewarded.

The wolves, driven by hunger, emerged one by one from their hiding place and all were shot by Hughes. Later he came into town, claimed a bounty of $100 and then sat down to the first meal he had eaten for more than half a week.

Mrs. Carrie Eddins, Huntsville.

Huntsville, Ala., June 9.—(Special.)—Mrs. Carrie Eddins, aged 47, wife of H. L. Eddins, died Saturday after a short illness.

LAGRANGE FIGHTING A LEAGUE RULING

LaGrange, Ga., June 9.—(Special.)—A special called meeting of the directors of the Ga.-Ala. league will be held in Gadsden Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of investigating what is termed the insubordination of the LaGrange ball team management in regard to paying men who have participated in games in higher leagues.

President Boykin has fined LaGrange $100 and has ordered that the team remove from its ranks two of the following three men, Zack Schuessler, pitcher; E. O. Beasley, pitcher, and Fred Newkirk, first baseman.

The team is entitled to one man who has played in higher leagues, so it is allowed by the ruling to keep one of thase three. LaGrange is fighting the ruling and has refused to pay the fine on the ground that Schuessler has participated in only one game and Beasley also in only one in higher class and for this reason were only tried out in higher leagues and are not legally barred from playing.

The LaGrange fans are indignant over the matter and the club officers claim they are living up to the league laws in every way.

Huerta Spy Shot.

Laredo, Texas, June 9.—Juan Manuel Diaz, an alleged Huerta spy, was court-martialed at Colombia, Mexico, today and immediately shot to death. He was charged with giving information to the federals at Nuevo Laredo.

POSLAM MAKES THOUSANDS LOOK WELL

Many who have given up hope of ever being rid of some distressing skin disease—and who have later experienced complete cure through Poslam—look upon its accomplishments as nothing short of miraculous.

All skin diseases, including eczema, acne, tetter, salt rheum, itch, etc., are quickly eradicated by Poslam. Itching is stopped at once. Common troubles, such as pimples, red noses, rashes, etc., respond so readily that overnight treatment is often sufficient. If you need the healing effects of Poslam, try it now.

POSLAM SOAP used daily for toilet and bath will keep the skin in healthy condition, and improve its color and texture. Purest and best that money can buy.

All druggists sell Poslam (price, 50 cents) and Poslam Soap (price, 25 cents). For free samples, write to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th Street, New York City.

New Gray Suits Of Tropical Worsted

In hot weather fabrics the smooth surfaced light weight worsteds have perhaps held the popular vote for the longest time.

Suits are cut in the conventional sack style, the current code of fashion for summer being comfort.

Of the lately arrived patterns, a cool gray, produced by the gentle mingling of black and white, is just the color effect desired; and, though there are three pieces to the suit, you may wear only two or one, as the occasion may require.

TECH'S QUARTER CENTENARY.

The Georgia School of Technology is celebrating its quarter centenary. The best vindication of the school's mission is found in the biographical sketches of its first graduating class of ten students, published in yesterday's Constitution. There is George G. Crawford, president of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company. This concern is a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation. It is, in effect, the southern branch of that great industry. Mr. Crawford has steadily risen since he first allied himself with the steel industry until finally he was placed in charge of the Birmingham plant. Under his supervision the steel company's activities in the Birmingham district had made it crowd Pittsburg as an iron and steel producing center. Oscar Elsas is another graduate of the Tech's first class. He is now first assistant and main reliance of his father, Jacob Elsas, president of the Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills, one of the greatest textile industries of the south, and in line for succession to its presidency. J. B. McCrary, a classmate of Crawford and Elsas, is head of the J. R. McCrary company, well-known as engineers and contractors and dealers in stock and bonds. W. H. Glenn is now vice president of the Georgia Railway and Power company. H. L. DeGive, manager of the DeGive projects throughout the south, also superintended the construction of these various enterprises. The remaining members of the class have likewise found their way into constructive work and achievement of the highest order. They have been and are in the first rank of the firing line of the new south, taking a dominant part in that practical construction which is so rapidly placing the south at the front of the nation. Each succeeding class has accomplished in proportion to the pioneer class and each year the demand for Tech graduates far exceeds the supply. The Georgia School of Technology is among the state's best assets.

It is a pity to have to record that the school has won this pre-eminence and furnished master builders to the south and the nation despite a policy of parsimony on part of the state that has at times amounted to restriction. The appropriations that successive legislatures have given the institution have been literally begged and wheedled by its heads and friends. Addressing the legislature and legislative committees in behalf of the actual needs of the school they have been made to feel that they were asking alms of the state. Where they have asked for a dollar lest the school stagnate, they have been given half a dollar and told then to be thankful. To the shame of Georgia, be it said that this, one of its most achieving institutions, has been built almost upon mendicancy! The story is no different from that of the University of Georgia. For several consecutive years that institution has asked the legislature for a relatively nominal appropriation for the construction of a central heating plant. A plant of that sort would, within a short time, save its first cost by economizing on insurance and on coal. Cool turn-downs have been the answer—"too poor," says the state! Just a year ago President Matheson, of the Tech, told the general assembly that friends of the institution and of industrial education would donate to it a power plant, complete and modern in every mechanical detail and valued at $100,000, if the school would provide the $50,000 for a building to house the plant. And he, too, got a turn-down for an answer, the sole excuse being—"too poor."

The thrusting of mendicancy upon the men who are equipping the future citizens of Georgia is bad enough. The libeling of this state as "poverty-stricken" is worse; it is indefensible. In proportion to population, Georgia is the richest state in the south; gauged by those assets which allow other states to deal generously in matters of education, it is one of the richest in the union. Considering the tremendous value of the state road, a public asset unique in America, Georgia owns millions of dollars over and above every cent it owes. The state road is not, of course, for sale. But it is an asset, nevertheless. And if, for example, the state of Georgia should see fit to liquidate, it could retire all of its bonds and every other form of indebtedness and leave a tremendous book balance on the credit side of the ledger. And that is not to mention Georgia's other assets, the marvelous increase of its farm land values and the enhancement of its city real estate and steady appreciation of value on part of its manufactured and agricultural products.

Tech and Georgia and the other schools have thrived and discharged their missions despite this miserly and unsupported plea of poverty from the state.

Isn't it time for the legislature, in justice to the future of this state, to turn over a new leaf?

SUICIDE, NOT "MARTYRDOM."

The British militant suffragettes will, of course, now acclaim Emily Wilding Davison a "martyr." The misguided advocate of "votes for women," who flung herself in front of the king's horse at the derby, is a simple suicide and not a martyr. She was a victim of her own aberration and hysteria. The suffragette claim that the government is responsible for her death is true only to this extent—that the deplorable weakness of the government in dealing with the anarchy and nihilism of the suffragette campaign has made the self-destruction of this unbalanced woman possible.

Miss Davison's last "protest" endangered not only her own life, but the lives of others. Her plunge into the field of flying horses came near causing the death of several jockeys. One of them, indeed, is now at death's door. The lives of others would have been snuffed out had the woman succeeded in her original effort to thrust herself into the very center of the course. Her end was entirely characteristic of her career in behalf of universal suffrage—violent, reckless of herself and of others. Several times she had been ejected from parliament houses, where she had secreted herself. She was suspected of attempted assassination. She was an advocate of the torch.

And now she is celebrated as a "martyr" to the "cause." It is pitiful! For men are apt more than ever to be inspired by caution in extending the ballot to women who can glorify such wanton insanity.

The main reproach to the British government is that it should have been so nerveless in dealing with the situation. When first the campaign of law-breaking begun, it should have been sternly repressed. Instead it has paltered and coaxed and compromised until incendiarism and violence have reached into an ascending scale, finding a climax in melodramatic suicide and destined, in all probability, to go yet farther lengths of pathetic ferocity. Here is presented the curious paradox of that nation renowned beyond all others for its pitiless suppression of the outlaw, mouthing, trembling and helpless before a band of termagant petticoats.

MR. JORDAN'S FIRST LETTER.

Elsewhere The Constitution publishes the first of a series of European letters from Harvie Jordan, of Atlanta. Mr. Jordan, who is an authority on agriculture, is now in Europe as a member of the federal commission to study rural credits and other features of European agriculture. The report to be made to congress by this body of experts will undoubtedly be the basis for widespread rural reforms in this country.

Mr. Jordan's first letter deals instructively with the land banks of Italy, the wonderful agricultural system of that and adjacent countries and the splendid highways of the old world. It presents in brief compass facts with which the farmer and the business man should familiarize himself, if he expects to keep abreast of the tide of development in agriculture just now beginning its flow.

STATE PRESS PRAISES BIG WOMAN'S EDITION

A Big Success.

(From Fitzgerald Leader-Enterprise.)

We congratulate the Woman's club and its state editors on the excellent articles and the scope of their ambitious program for the educational, moral and economic uplift in the state. The volume contained 126 pages, and every page seems to carry a message of importance to the public.

Splendid Piece of Work.

(From Cedartown Standard.)

The Woman's club edition of The Atlanta Constitution is a splendid piece of work. We are glad that our city officials, at the instance of the Cedartown Woman's club, saw to it that Cedartown was represented with our sister cities in this mammoth edition.

A Handsome Paper.

(From Adel News.)

The woman's edition of The Atlanta Constitution was an unusually handsome paper, beautifully illustrated and all the articles were splendidly written.

A Mammoth Sheet.

(From Cuthbert Leader.)

The woman's edition of The Atlanta Constitution, issued yesterday, is a mammoth sheet that makes a fine appearance.

Great in Every Respect.

(From DeKalb New Era.)

Hats off to the club women of Georgia! The woman's edition of The Atlanta Constitution, issued by them June 4, was great in every respect, and was something of which every Georgian may well be proud.

A Credit to the Promoters.

(From Douglas County Sentinel.)

That woman's edition of The Constitution Wednesday was a hummer. It was full of well-edited matter and a credit to the promoters of the enterprise.

A Superb Newspaper.

(From Dalton Citizen.)

The woman's edition of The Atlanta Constitution, issued Wednesday, is a superb newspaper. The good women who handled this mammoth edition deserve much credit. Everything interesting, instructive and entertaining to women was handled ably, indicating that the editors know a great deal about journalism.

A Mammoth Sheet.

(From Lumpkin Independent.)

The woman's edition of The Atlanta Constitution, issued Wednesday, is a mammoth sheet that makes a fine appearance.

A Nice Edition.

(From Murray News.)

The Atlanta Constitution, in its edition of Wednesday, issued a woman's edition, consisting of about 126 pages, and devoted to womankind in Georgia generally. The edition was issued by the Georgia Federation of Women's clubs for the Ella F. White memorial fund, and was a handsome and creditable affair.

A Model Enterprise.

(From Rome Tribune-Herald.)

The special edition of The Atlanta Constitution, which bore the title of "The Woman's Edition," was a model of newspaper enterprise, both typographically and from a journalistic standpoint.

The Best Yet.

(From Brunswick News.)

The woman's edition of The Atlanta Constitution, under the auspices of the federated woman's clubs of Georgia, is by far the best work of its kind ever published in Georgia, or the south.

The Talk of the Day.

(From Athens Banner.)

The magnificent 126-page edition of The Atlanta Constitution, gotten out by the women's clubs of Georgia, was the subject of much favorable comment in Athens. The ladies and The Constitution are both to be commended and complimented.

HELP THE OLD NEGROES

A WORTHY APPEAL.

Editor Constitution: I observed in Friday's Constitution an effort to pension old body-guards (ex-slaves) of southern soldiers. This is a noble sentiment. I know an upright negro, Sam Brown, who lives near Fowlstown, Decatur county, Georgia, who carried his young master's dead body from the field of battle in Virginia.

Dr. Thomas Y. Henry, a grandson of Patrick Henry, also owned a large farm in Decatur county, on the Florida line, being a surgeon of the Second Florida regiment. Dr. Henry made his favorite servant, Winston, his body servant for nearly three years in Virginia. I have often heard Winston relate how he helped Dr. Henry amputate legs and arms all day after battles.

This faithful old negro died last summer, practically neglected by everybody and in great poverty. It was my fortune to find him just before he died, and to soothe him on his dying pillow, and I thought then that the state ought to aid all such faithful old negroes as he.

Air Navies Still Experimental.

(From The Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

The Italians in Tripoli and the Bulgarians in Thrace have not found the aeroplane any essential part of the machinery of modern war. Both armies were well supplied with aeroplanes and with skillful and intrepid aviators. But neither Italians nor Bulgarians gained any considerable advantage from the work of the flyers, either as scouts or as bomb droppers.

This lack of practical results does not, however, argue that flying contrivances are not destined to play an important part in the warfare of the future—if there be any such warfare of the future. The science of aviation, though it has made tremendous advances, is still very young. It is not too fanciful to hold that development may make possible actual air warships, craft which will contend with one another in the heavens while the dreadnoughts are peppering and pounding on the surface of the waters. At any rate, Europe is not neglecting this possibility, and nearly every country is endeavoring to keep strictly up to date in the swiftly advancing science.

Electric Meters.

Renovo, a railroad town in Pennsylvania, has adopted the very convenient scheme of placing electric meters on the back porches of the houses. This arrangement permits the meter reader to read a great many meters in a day. It is a common matter to read three hundred meters. Another advantage is that the meter is placed in a conspicuous place, where the consumer may read it from time to time and get better acquainted with it.

HARVIE JORDAN DESCRIBES ITALY'S RURAL CREDIT BANKS

(Harvie Jordan, former president of the Southern Cotton association and a vice president of the Southern Commercial Congress, is traveling Europe as a member of the United States commission for the study of foreign rural credits and other phases of foreign agriculture. The commission, all composed of experts, will make a report to congress upon which it is hoped to found rural credit banks in this country and to introduce the more adaptable features of agricultural systems now succeeding in the old world. Mr. Jordan will supply a number of articles, descriptive of his travels, to The Constitution. This is the first of the series.)

By Harvie Jordan.

Budapest, Hungary, June 9.—(Special.)—Since landing at Genoa the American commission assembled for a two days' conference at Rome and sent out from there subcommittees to important cities and agricultural sections in southern, central and northern Italy, to investigate various phases of agriculture and farm life. I confined my work principally to studies of rural co-operative banks and central federated banks in and adjacent to the old city of Bologna. Every facility for investigation was furnished by prominent officials of the Italian government and municipal authorities.

The rural confessional banks are the most popular banking institutions in central and northern Italy, while the land mortgage banks of Naples and in Palermo, Sicily, supply the financial needs of agriculture in southern Italy. The confessional banks are purely Catholic institutions, as no farmer or person can become a member unless he be a Catholic in good standing. While deposits may be received from any source, no loans are made to anyone except regular members of the bank. There are seventy-two of these rural confessional banks, with the priest of each community as secretary, in the province of Bologna—and these are federated with one big central bank in Bologna. There are also liberal or independent rural banks, but they are largely in the minority. There are no salaries paid to any of the officials connected with the operation of these banks, and no dividends paid on the shares of stock. All of the profits go to the reserve fund which increases the capital of the bank for making loans. This altruistic system of operating the rural banks is also applied to the large savings banks in so far as the payment of dividends are concerned. Only salaries (which are small) and actual expenses of rents and taxes are paid out of the profits, the balance going into the reserves of the institutions. All of the detailed data pertaining to every phase of the land mortgage banks and rural credit banks of these European countries, as well as that of co-operative marketing societies, production and social life is being gathered and will be assembled into the final report of the commission for the benefit of the American people, upon its return to the United States.

Marked Progress.

The progress of agriculture in the sections I visited is very marked, and reflect great credit upon the Italian farmers. The system is so intensive in the province around Bologna that no space is left for pastures or meadows. In many respects the customs of farming and the simple methods of hand labor employed are practically the same today as under the old Roman Empire of the Cæsars.

The principal crops which came under my observation were wheat, rice, hemp, alfalfa, grapes and vegetables. The draft animals on these farms for plowing and hauling are oxen. In breaking the land there are often as many as four yokes of oxen hitched to one plow, the land being turned 24 inches deep. The oxen are the largest and finest animals of the kind I ever saw. They weigh from 1,700 to 2,000 pounds each, are kept in splendid condition, are pure white, and in my examination of at least 100 head of them, I failed to find a single scratch or even a place where the hair was rubbed on the necks or shoulders, so careful are the men who work and attend to them. Most of the land is held in large estates and worked on shares by the owners, but in some cases, especially in the rice producing sections, 800 to 1,000 small farmers will organize a co-operative society and lease some of these lands for a term of years and operate them upon a joint co-operative basis. Farm labor is so plentiful that labor unions exist in the rural districts of Italy, the same as our labor unions in the large cities of the United States. While riding over two large estates I had the pleasure of being most hospitably received and entertained for an hour in each of two old castles built in the fifteenth century, before America was discovered by Columbus—and now in a splendid state of preservation, and occupied by the owners of the estates we inspected.

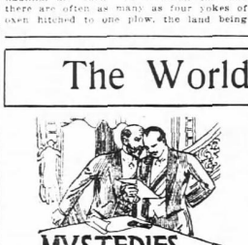
Splendid Roads.

The roadways of Italy are very fine and kept by the government in splendid condition. I traveled for 15 miles over one of these public highways which was originally built as a military road and used by the Roman legions a thousand years ago. Over these roads a yoke of oxen will pull a two-wheeled cart loaded with five tons of produce from the farm to the market; this is equal to 20 bales of cotton, or four-fifths of an ordinary car load of cotton. While the small farmers are gradually working out their independence and freedom through the valued aid of the rural banks and co-operative societies, yet on the large estates the hundreds of small share farmers employed appear to present the true type of the peasant, and the social distinction between the peasant and the big land owner, who may be a count or a Marquis, is about as great today as it was a century ago. There are about four distinct classes—the royalty, the aristocracy, the mercantile or middle class, and the laborers and peasantry. There is but little chance for a man to rise above the class of his ancestors. This is where the republican form of our government differentiates from the old customs and laws of these monarchial countries. Agriculture in central Italy may be likened to garden culture. There is not a foot of waste land anywhere. The crops are planted in sections 100 feet wide and from 400 to 1,000 feet long. The division between sections is occupied by a row of trees with grape vines festooned between, and I am told this custom has been pursued for centuries.

The branches of these trees are cut each year for fuel, as Italy has no coal mines. Lands are fertilized heavily with barnyard and chemical manures. Large quantities of wheat straw is kept in the stalls and not a particle of the manure is allowed to waste. Rotation of crops is scientifically pursued. The yield of crops per acre have doubled in the last 50 years and are much greater than in the United States. The darkest spot upon the agricultural life of these old countries is the fact that the women on the farms have to do all the drudgery of the home and also keep their places in the field. On one big rice farm I saw hundreds of young women standing in water nearly knee-deep pulling up weeds from among the rice, while men stood on the banks nearby superintending the work. It is no uncommon sight to see from 50 to 100 women and girls barefooted and bareheaded in a field bending over and pulling out grass and weeds from rows of cultivated crops. We are in Hungary and Austria until June 1 and then to Germany, Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland, Belgium and Holland until July 1.

We are receiving every courtesy and hospitality on the part of the countries visited.

The World's Mysteries



WHO KILLED PRINCE ARTHUR?

The young English princes who have borne the name of Arthur seem to have been unusually unfortunate, but upon none of them is more interest attached than upon the youth of that name who was a nephew of the famous Richard Coeur de Lion. The manner in which this young prince met his death has always been a matter of much doubt. Shakespeare introduces the prince in a most touching scene in his play of "King John."

Arthur was the son of Geoffrey, Duke of Brittany, and his wife, Constance, and was born after his distinguished father was slain in a tournament. He was acknowledged as the successor to his father in the title of Duke of Brittany. He was the grandson of King Henry II, and when his uncle, King Richard, died in 1199, he was no doubt his rightful heir. But John, another son of Henry, seized the crown, and the people, because of the extreme youth of Prince Arthur, seemed to be satisfied to have him their ruler. But such was not the case with the barons of Anjou, Touraine and Maine, who espoused the cause of the young prince, and took the oath of allegiance to him and his mother.

When the mother felt that the life of her son was in danger in England, she sought protection with him from the King of France, Philip Augustus. The French king, who was waiting eagerly for an opportunity to deprive the English king of continental possessions, embraced the cause of Arthur, and not only sent troops to assist the barons of Anjou and Brittany, but also invaded Normandy.

But the leaders in the cause of Prince Arthur soon came to the conclusion that Philip Augustus was fighting to satisfy his personal ambition rather than to assist the young prince. They carried him away from the French court. But this hardly done when the Seneschal of Anjou learned from secret information that King John was acting treacherously, and sought to gain possession of his nephew in order to poison him. He therefore changed his plans and carried Arthur by night to Angers and again placed him under the protection of the French king.

Finally Philip made peace with King John and he induced Arthur to remain content with the Duchy of Brittany and renounce all claims to the English throne. The young prince had nothing else to do. He seemed to be pushed from one side to the other as they saw fit in the manipulation of European politics of that period.

But the peace between the French and English kings lasted only for two years, when the young prince's claims again were brought forward by Philip. Arthur at this time was fifteen years old. On the first of August of the same year, 1202, in assisting to put down an insurrection in Anjou, he was surprised by King John and was captured with all the barons who accompanied him. He was carried a prisoner to Falaise, whence he was subsequently transferred to Rouen, and from this on nothing further is authentically known of him, although there is no doubt he was murdered.

There have been written many accounts of the murder. According to that given by Ralph of Coggeshall, John, at the suggestion of some of his evil councilors, connived on putting out the eyes of the prince, and sent some of his creatures to execute the barbarous deed on the third of April it is said that this was prevented by Hubert de Burgh, who was at that time governor of Falaise.

He was then removed from Falaise to Rouen, and on the night of April 13 it is said that he was taken from the tower in which he was confined, placed in a boat where King John waited for him, and there was murdered by Peter de Maulac at the king's command. According to another version, Maulac, refusing to do the deed, John murdered his nephew with his own hand.

Still another story has it that when the king reached the castle of Falaise he ordered Arthur to be brought before him, and he promised him many honors if he would forsake the French king, but Arthur stubbornly refused, and thereupon was ordered to Rouen to be imprisoned in a new tower just completed there. He was placed under close guard, but shortly afterward suddenly disappeared. Popular tradition was from a rather early period almost unanimous in representing the murder as having been perpetrated by the king's own hand, but this perhaps arose more out of hatred to John's memory than from any accurate knowledge of the truth.

SIX ENTRIES MADE FOR TRACK MEET

Announcement of Field Day on Fourth of July Brings Ready Response From Athletes.

The announcement of a big track and field day at Piedmont park on the morning of July 4 has evidently a popular chord among local athletes.

Joe Bean, athletic director of the Atlanta Athletic club, who is in charge of the meet, has received six entries already and the first announcement was only made Sunday.

Mr. Bean will give special instructions to all those desiring to enter the meet.

The entries already received and the events in which they will take part and the organization they will represent, are as follows:

Hugh Mauck fifth regiment, shot put and hammer throw.

Charles Allen, Marist, 100-yard dash and 440-yard run.

Walter Locke, Atlanta Athletic club, 880-yard run and steeplechase.

Walter Dahard, Atlanta Athletic club, shot put and hammer throw.

Judge Fowler, Marist, 880-yard run and Steeplechase.

John Sloberta, Marist, pole vault.

All further entries should be filled with Mr. Bean, care of the park board, city hall.

AUDITOR C. J. METZ SUBMITS HIS REPORT

Guarantee Trust Co. Hearing Will Be Resumed Thursday Before Judge Pendleton.

The trial of the case of Delaney and others against the Guarantee Trust and Banking company promises to break all of the records for time occupied in Fulton superior court.

The trial of the case was entered into on the fourth day of May and consumed three weeks in the hearing of evidence, being suspended two weeks ago for an examination of the books of the company by an auditor appointed by Judge Pendleton.

The Southern Audit company received the appointment, and the work was conducted under the personal supervision of its president, C. J. Metz, who filed his report with the court yesterday.

The report of the auditor shows that at the time of the sale of the old Guarantee Trust Company of Georgia to the present company, the Guarantee Trust and Banking company, for a consideration of $221,000, the liability of the old company, represented by the amounts invested by the owners of outstanding bonds, was $183,052.52 not including insurance fees and not including maturity values of interest obligations of any kind.

Much interest was attached to the finding of the auditor in this respect, as the outside liability of the old company at the time of the trade was represented as below $144,000.

It was claimed by the company that on this basis the assets of the company, which they alleged to be $173,000 was more than sufficient to pay off the liabilities, leaving a surplus, and this conclusion was bitterly attacked by counsel for plaintiffs, who contended that even if the assets claimed by the company were worth book value at the time of the trade the old company was heavily insolvent, its liabilities exceeding its assets by practically a quarter of a million dollars.

The report of the auditor is quite lengthy, covering many pages of closely typewritten matter, and will be formally considered by the court when the hearing of the case is resumed next Thursday.

Downpour Injures Cotton.

Williamston, Ga., June 9.—(Special.) Farmers in this section record a heavy loss to their crops from the torrential rain which fell last week for over an hour.

The fields are badly washed out, and the cotton crops received a severe injury. In many fields where the stand of cotton was already poor replanting will have to be done, as the tender stalks were either washed up or beaten to the ground.

Buy a Diamond on Monthly Payments Before Prices Advance.

Here, you can buy a good diamond by paying only one-fifth cash and settle the balance in easy monthly payments.

Should you wish a diamond ring at $125, the cash payment required would be $25. The balance of $100 could be settled in ten equal monthly payments. We charge only 6 per cent simple interest, which figures $2.75. This would make the monthly payments $10.27 each.

It will pay you to buy now in this way rather than wait until you can pay all cash. Diamonds are going to be advanced in price in the next few months. You can save fully 20 per cent by buying at the present prices.

Selections sent on approval anywhere.

Net prices and full particulars given in our diamond booklet and catalogue. Call or write for these books. A postal request will bring them to you by return mail.

BOYS' CORN CLUBS OF MORGAN COUNTY HOLD BIG MEETING

Madison, Ga., June 9.—(Special.)—The Boys' Corn club of Morgan county met in the county courtroom in the courthouse here today. After a brief talk by Superintendent Bird, of county schools, as to the object cause of the meeting, he introduced Professor Acree, principal of the Eighth District Agricultural college, who talked to the boys about how to cultivate their soil to make the greatest yields of corn. There are 32 boys in the club.

On account of the inclement weather Professor Walter Kendrick, of Athens, failed to make his appearance. His absence was a decided disappointment, as he was to have addressed here to talk to the boys and arrange group meetings over the county with them. Superintendent Bird urged the boys to stick to the clubs, showing them the importance of the work and what they would learn from it besides the opportunity of winning prizes.

Professor Acree gave a talk about fertilizers. The meeting was a most enthusiastic one, and the next one will be held at the agricultural college. The date will be announced later.

Dr. Moore Delivers Address.

Augusta, Ga., June 9.—(Special.)—Dr. John M. Moore, of Nashville, delivered the baccalaureate address to the graduating class of Tubman High school and to the cadets of the Academy of Richmond County at St. James Methodist church yesterday morning. The entire student body of the academy attended the occasion in full dress, while the young ladies from Tubman were uniformly dressed in white.

the law school for two years, and it is awarded for general excellence in all the courses of the curriculum, in addition to this high honor Mr. Foster was declared the winner of the Callaghan company prize, a valuable set of law books for the man in the class with the highest scholarship average for the entire senior year.

Having already opened law offices in the Trust Company of Georgia building, Mr. Foster is entering his professional career with everything in his favor, and his many friends look for a repetition of his splendid school record for he has a capacity for hard work and a foundation in the law that commends him to the favorable consideration of those who know him.

TELEPHONE TAKEN OUT; ASKS $10,000 DAMAGES

Suit was entered in the superior court yesterday by James J. Flowers, against the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company for $10,000 damages.

The plaintiff alleges that during the month of January, 1913, the telephone in his general dry goods store, 224 Edgewood avenue, was out of commission four days, and that when bill was presented for monthly rental he wished to have an amount deducted for the four days' service lost. Plaintiff alleges defendant telephone company refused to make any reduction whatsoever, and furthermore, upon Flowers' refusal to pay the whole amount, the telephone was taken out, thereby damaging his business to extent of $10,000.

JUDGE URGES CHECK ON QUICK DIVORCES

Aroused by the general tendency of the Fulton county courts becoming what he called a "divorce mill," during a period Court Judge W. D. Ellis made it plain to all Monday that he would not tolerate the present undefended divorce calendar any longer. In a solemn tone manner, and in a strong charge to the jury said that no case would be "railroaded" through his court.

"I want it distinctly understood that this court is not to be regarded as the divorce machine that some persons seem to think it is," he said.

The matter of granting divorces is a serious one. Perhaps the most serious that comes before the courts and it cannot be treated lightly. You jurors are not to regard these pleas in a perfunctory manner."

A number of plaintiffs were heard practically each one's plea being that the husband in case was a drunkard and wife-beater.

MAN OF 70 IS DENIED RIGHT TO MARRY AGAIN

Judge W. D. Ellis, of the superior court, charged his jury yesterday not to refuse the disabilities of John G. Brewer and Mrs. Brewer, a request was made when the court granted his wife, Mrs. Mary J. Brewer, a divorce on grounds of desertion. Judge Ellis said that the age of 70 as the age for removal of disabilities was of no consequence, and therefore the jury found, and so returned a verdict in favor of plaintiff, thereby giving him the right to marry again.

Mrs. Brewer said that they were married in 1910, when she was 50 and he was 68. She said she thought at the time he had a successful furniture business, but found otherwise. She said that she was asked to mortgage her home and give him the funds, which she refused to do. Then he deserted her.

SOUTH IS PROSPERING. SAY BRADSTREET MEN

Encouraging Reports Are Made by the Managers From Many Cities.

"Atlanta and the south are being swept upward and onward in a tide of prosperity never before known in this section," said J. E. C. Pedder, division superintendent of the Bradstreet agencies, yesterday at the annual gathering of that organization in the Empire building.

It was to Bradstreet representatives located in Birmingham, Jacksonville, Savannah, Greenville, S. C., Mobile, Augusta, Macon, Charleston, Tampa, Chattanooga and Albany the Atlanta division superintendent was talking, and his declaration was based upon reports sent in to the Atlanta office by the superintendents of Bradstreet in the sections indicated.

"In reports sent into this division headquarters from all its sections, I find nothing but encouragement," said the division superintendent.

Fine Business in Fall.

Declaring he was looking forward to a fine business fall, Superintendent Pedder said reports showed that all grain crops were promising and asserted that if the promises made good —and he had no doubt they would make good—money would be much easier than at present. Saying that the southeastern states had had rather hard times during the past two years because of short crops and low prices, the superintendent declared vast changes for the better had been shown within the last month—rains and careful tilling of the soil bringing about the change for the better.

"Still," said Superintendent Pedder, "the entire south has gone forward by leaps and bounds that would surprise the student even at home. Throughout the south there has been developments in every line—railroad construction and home-making. But Atlanta, the Gate City of the South, has broken all records in advancement in all lines of industrial development."

Lee A. Roper, superintendent of the Atlanta, Ga., office, was brief but interesting in his report of the commercial conditions in his section of the Bradstreet territory, and what he said was all to the good.

G. A. Follin, of Jacksonville, showed that the bank clearings in that city had shown a gain of $22,000,000 a year since 1910 and said that its building life had never been greater.

Birmingham Prospers.

R. F. Epperson, of the Birmingham Bradstreet agency, declared that his city has now in construction buildings aggregating a cost of $10,000,000—a bank structure of 23 stories to cost $1,100,000, and two modern hotels at $1,000,000 each being in the list.

William W. Barnes, of the Augusta agency, reported two 10-story buildings now in construction and said that the 40,000-horsepower electric plant on the Savannah river at a cost of $3,000,000 will give that city a great stride to the front.

W. L. Lehman, of the Tampa division, declared there had been a decidedly satisfactory increase in the shipment of cigars from that city and that trade conditions generally were in excellent shape.

J. L. Wray, of the Chattanooga office, reported that all factories in that city are running to full capacity and that regular wages are being maintained, while bank clearings have steadily increased.

C. M. Williams, of the Montgomery office, declares real estate in his territory has an upward tendency, while the grain and fruit crops promise decided results this year for better returns.

Mobile Is Progressing.

G. A. Bailey, of the Mobile office, told the gathering of Bradstreet men that real estate in his section had shown an increase within the past year, due largely to the new docks along the water fronts, and the increased water-line service now being inaugurated and promised additions thereto.

L. E. Lewis, of the Macon office, told of new buildings in course of construction nd other promised, and promised satisfactory returns from crops now growing because of the productive soil and excellent climatic conditions. Mr. Lewis in touching the peach growth in his section declared that he believed that crop alone would bring to Georgia this year $2,000,000.

B. F. Showalter, of Savannah, and F. W. Rennekers, of Charleston, both presented reports on conditions in their respective territories showing a confidence in trade conditions and a hope of a daily advance.

The Bradstreet convention will close its annual session today.

REMOVING HAT, WOMAN LEAPS FROM TRESTLE

Raincoat Acts as a Parachute, Saving the Life of Mrs. Ethel Smith.

A trim-figured brunette, apparently 30 years old, wearing a wide straw hat, with purple plumes, and clad in a raincoat, stepped on the trestle of the Western and Atlantic railroad that spans the Chattahoochee river yesterday morning about 9 o'clock.

Reaching the middle of the trestle she removed her hat, adjusted a button at the bottom of her raincoat and looked long into the rushing waters of the river, 100 feet below.

Suddenly she stepped back a pace, threw out both arms as a bird spreading wings, and jumped from the dizzy height. The raincoat, opening parachute-like, lessened the force of her fall.

The woman rose to the surface, and then she floated swiftly downstream more than 200 feet, to a spot where a darkey, in a skiff, was fishing. Harrison dove into the water and quickly swam with the woman to shore.

She was revived and carried into a neighboring home, where she was cared, and dry clothes were furnished. She gave the name of Ethel Smith, and said her home was at 289 Rawson street, where she lived with her family.

She was rushed in the automobile of the county police to her Rawson street home. She would give no reason for her desperate leap, although it is said she has told members of her family that she dove into the river to escape an outrush train which threatened to crush her.

Despondency over the failure to receive a letter from her 3-year-old son, who is attending a reform school in Athens, is said to have been the cause. Her boy is doing well, say officials of the school and wrote his mother not later than ten days ago.

Mrs. Smith was uninjured in the fall.

New Lodge Officers.

Thomasville, Ga., June 9.—(Special.) Pineywoods lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, held its semi-annual election of officers this week, and those chosen are J. W. Craigmiles, noble grand; J. C. Cash, vice grand; A. W. Davis, captain degree team. These officers will be installed next month. The lodge here is reported as being in very fine condition, and is considered one of the leading ones in the state.

VICE INVESTIGATION MAY BE RESUMED TODAY

There is much speculation as to whether the Fulton county grand jury will resume the vice probe when it meets this morning for a three-day session.

Foreman Beck said yesterday that there was a large amount of criminal business to be attended to, but intimated that if this could be cleared up today that the vice inquiry might be taken up.

Mrs. N. Powell, recently sentenced to four months in jail for running a disorderly house, is one of the witnesses, and it is more than likely that she will be summoned.

SOCIETY

President's Reception.

A beautiful occasion yesterday was the afternoon reception given by the president of the Georgia School of Technology and Mrs. Matheson at their home on North avenue, this event a happy feature of the Tech commencement and alumni reunion.

The guests invited were the alumni, the faculty, the trustees of the school and of the Y. M. C. A., the graduating class and a number of young ladies.

The house was artistically decorated with pennants, palms and flowers, the Tech colors, old gold and white, finding constant repetition in daisies, sweetpeas, marigolds and roses.

Dainty refreshments were served, and the table in the dining room, which held the sweets, was picturesque in old gold and white, its centerpiece of roses.

The Tech band furnished bright music.

Mrs. Matheson was beautiful in white net gown of embroidered net and lace.

In the receiving line were Governor and Mrs. Slaton, Colonel and Mrs. N. E. Harris, of Macon; Dr. and Mrs. Kincaid Brand and Mrs. Coon, Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Professor and Mrs. Branch, Mr. and Mrs. Colcord.

Littie Misses Bello and Mary Matheson, wearing white lingerie dresses with blue ribbons, served punch.

To Miss Yauch.

Mr. Graham Phelan will entertain at dinner tonight at the Driving club in compliment to Miss Yauch, of New York, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Beaumont Davison.

On Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Paxon will entertain at dinner for Miss Yauch.

To Commissioner Claxton.

Dr. Philander P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, was guest of honor at a stag luncheon yesterday at the Georgian Terrace, the party a group of distinguished educators.

Moscs-Alexander.

Mr. and Mrs. Judah Touro Moses, of Montgomery, Ala., announce the engagement of their daughter, Julia, to Mr. Cecil A. Alexander. The marriage will take place on Wednesday evening, June 18, at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of relatives and intimate friends.

For Miss Ripley.

Mrs. Homer McAfee entertained at a kitchen shower yesterday afternoon at her home on Lucile avenue in compliment to Miss Louise Ripley, a bride-elect. Pink and white carnations and ferns attractively decorated the house.

Afternoon tea was served at 5 o'clock in the dining room, where the centerpiece of the pretty table was a tall silver vase filled with pink carnations and all of the details of the table were pink and white.

Mrs. McAfee wore a gown of pink embroidered linen. The guests included Miss Laura Ripley, Miss Cena Whitehead, Miss Flora Crowe, Miss Margaret Roberts, Miss Wright, Miss Frances Ansley, Miss Julia MacIntyre, Miss Sinia White, Mrs. T. J. Ripley, Mrs. F. J. MacIntyre, Mrs. T. J. Whitehead of Albany, Mrs. D. I. MacIntyre, Mrs. Karl Brittain, Miss Theodosia Willingham, Mrs. H. I. Berry, Mrs. H. N. McAfee and Mrs. T. J. Ripley.

For Miss Powell.

Cairo, Ga., June 9.—Special.—Miss Irma Bloise Powell, whose marriage to Mr. Charles Roddenbery Beale takes place on June 17 was entertained at a "miscellaneous shower" on Wednesday afternoon, June 4 by Mesdames Crawford, Poulk, Lindsay, Johnson and Mauldin, at the beautiful home of Mrs. T. Crawford, on Ochlochnee street.

Sixty-five guests were invited.

Miss Powell, the bride-elect wore a handsome hand-made gown of wisteria crepe de chine over messaline satin, trimmed in Bulgarian passementerie and crystal buttons.

Mrs. Crawford's spacious home was beautifully decorated in southern smilax, with Duchess roses in the library, pink lilies in reception hall, sweet peas in parlor and pink carnations in the dining room.

Misses Carrie Powell and Eunice Bussey presided at the punch bowl on the porch. Dainty refreshments were served, and each guest was, as a souvenir of the occasion, given a gilt bride's slipper filled with rice.

For Miss Van Epps.

Miss Cleveland Zahner entertained at a matinee party yesterday afternoon at the Forsyth and tea after the matinee at Cafe Denschaud. The guests included Miss Van Epps, Miss Hanson of Tennessee, Miss Florence Bradley, Miss Helen Muse and Miss Marion Woodward.

Praise for Woman's Edition.

The women managers of the Woman's Edition, published June 4 by the Federated Women of Georgia, are in receipt of letters of praise from many sources.

Mrs. Julius Brown, of Chattanooga, the first president of the City Federation, in writing of the edition, said: "I am extremely pleased with the paper, even better than I expected, and that is saying a great deal."

Mrs. Emma G. Boyd, writing from Sewanee, Tenn., where she is spending the summer, comments as follows: "The Woman's Edition was fine. I send heartiest congratulations."

Mrs. Eugene B. Heard, of Rose Hill writes:

"Both in contents and arrangement it makes new advances in journalism. It covers the entire field of woman's work in Georgia."

De Sausseure-Davis.

A pretty wedding last night was that of Miss Ida DeSausseure and Mr. W. A. Davis, of Savannah, which took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Orris Ferry Randall.

Mrs. Thomas Edwards Screven was matron of honor, and the bride's brother, Mr. John DeSausseure, gave her away. The ceremony was performed by Dr. C. B. Wilmer, of St. Luke Episcopal church.

The bride was charming in white voile over white satin, and her flowers were bride roses and white sweet peas. The matron of honor wore white chiffon and lace, with pink sash, and her flowers were pink sweet peas. Mrs. Randall wore wistaria silk embroidered. Mrs. John DeSausseure wore white embroidery and lace. Mrs. Charles A. DeSausseure, of Memphis, wore black lace.

An orchestra provided music for the ceremony and an informal reception, the wedding company including only a family party.

The decorations were a handsome arrangement of palms, daisies and white sweet peas, and a prettily appointed table in the dining room was in white and green, its centerpiece of sweet peas. After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Davis will make their home in Savannah.

Civic Club Entertained.

Of the many meetings held by the Civic League, few have been more delightful than that of last Friday, when a large number of representative women met at the band stand in Grant park. The guest of honor was Mr. Sam Shepard, newly elected councilman, who answered the many questions asked him with patience and care. He assured the ladies of his help and co-operation. And his presence was a matter of much pleasure and satisfaction.

Several important matter were discussed, and it was decided to continue meeting in the park during the summer months. At the close of the business session the club was invited to go to the nearby pavilion and there Drs. Herbert and Florence Truax invited them to become their guests at an afternoon tea. A long table had been set, beautifully decorated with the club colors, gold and brown. Four pretty girls, Misses Irene White, Frances Crosland, Maud Couch and Laura Lewis, assisted the hostess in serving refreshments. Music on the graphophone enlivened the meal and toasts were offered.

Later, Miss Berenice Horton gave several beautiful dramatic readings, and by request Dr. Florence Truax recited a little original poem. "Turn Your Faces Toward the Sun." The close emblem is the sunflower, and at the meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs on Friday morning Dr. Truax had given the little poem as a response from the Third Ward club in answer to roll call.

For Captain Parks.

One of the pleasant events of the past week was a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Morris to Captain R. A. Parks, of Luray, Va., the occasion being the anniversary of his birthday. Captain Parks is an influential man in his state and a prominent confederate veteran. The guests included General A. J. West, Colonel Colton Lane, Dr. Amos Fox, Mr. A. J. McBride, Dr. Frances Smith and Captain J. T. Bechman, of Palmetto, Ga.

Birthday Party.

Miss Evelyn Duncon was hostess at a pretty birthday party yesterday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walker Duncon, on Juniper street.

The house was attractively decorated with sweet peas and the table in the dining room, pink and white sweet peas for the centerpiece. A birthday cake having eight pink candles was at one end of the table and the mints, ices and cakes were pink and white.

The young hostess wore a dainty dress of white mull and lace with pink ribbons and was assisted in entertaining by her mother and sister. The guests were Miss Eugenia Buchanan, Miss Ellen Newell, Miss Ann Lane Newell, Miss Anna Harriett Shumake, Miss Lamar Lowe, Miss Marion Wolff, Miss Margaret Stovall, Miss Mary Cohen, Miss Alice Sterns, Miss Elinor Hillyer, Miss Jane Hillyer, Miss Janie Near, Miss Frances Walls, Miss Rebecca Harrell, Miss Mollie Wright, Miss Harrell, Miss Sarah McGill, Miss Margaret Barnwell, Miss Callie Orme, Miss Julia Black, Miss Bessie Mitchell, Miss Elizabeth Spier, Miss Annie Grant, Miss Evelyn Knox, Miss Mary Ann Lipscomb, Miss Minetta Sharp, Miss Mary Calkins, Miss Lela Kirkpatrick, Miss Mary McCarty, Miss Lottie Johnson, Miss Mildred Brown Spalding, Miss Constance Spalding, Miss Will Hawkins, Miss Katherine Stewart, Miss Louise Day, Miss Charlotte Meador, Miss Clara Bell King, Miss Virginia Lurman, Miss Eloise Gaines, Miss Sarah Hurt, Miss Judge Vaughn and Spencer Boyd, Edmund Hurt, William Hancock, Deles Hill, Jr., James Williams, Charles Boynton, Lee Lurman, Ed Wright Wright III, Robert Sams, George Adair, Jr., Bruce White, Wallace Kirkpatrick, Joel Hunter, Frank Boland, Joe Boland, James Campbell, William Lye, Rutherford Ellis, John Hightower, Fraser Patterson, Jacob Patterson, Clarence May, William McCarty, Dan Clarke, Sam Brown, Marcus Brown, Sherwood Higgs, Colquitt Carter, Jr., George McMillan and Ernest McCollough.

For Wedding Party.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Andrews entertained the bridal party last evening at a handsome supper at their home in Inman Park after the church rehearsal for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Lina Andrews, and Mr. Christian Rauschenberg, Jr.

Miss Taylor Entertains.

On Saturday afternoon at her home on Capitol avenue Miss Annie Taylor entertained about forty guests in honor of Mrs. Vincent S. Taylor, of Birmingham, Ala., a recent bride, and Miss Daisy Patterson, a bride-elect of this month.

The lower floor was beautifully decorated with ferns and cut flowers, the color scheme of pink and white carried out in the decorations and refreshments.

Miss Patterson was tendered a miscellaneous shower.

Mrs. Taylor wore a beautiful pink chiffon over pink satin. Miss Patterson wore a cream and pink brocade satin dress, with a corsage of pink sweet peas.

Heart-dice was played, Miss Mary Lee Harrison winning a hand-painted pin tray, and Mrs. Charles Coleman, the consolation.

Miss Taylor wore a blue chiffon gown over satin, and was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Taylor. Miss Myrtle McClain, Miss Irene Patterson and Mrs. J. C. Harrison.

NEW SYNAGOGUE WILL BE OPENED TONIGHT

Congregation Anshe-Sfard Will Hold Services at No. 344 Woodward Avenue.

A new Hebrew synagogue, the Congregation Anshe-Sfard, has been organized in Atlanta, and the first services will be held by Canton D. Steinfeld tonight at the temporary location, 344 Woodward avenue.

This congregation will carry out the chasidem traditions of the Hebrew faith, which stresses the value of unity in spirit, and optimism. The congregation itself is of the orthodox faith, and is the first of its kind to be organized in the south.

The services will follow the traditions of the Spanish Hebrew church, which is slightly different from the other congregations in Atlanta.

Beginning with the first of the weeks tonight, services will be held Wednesday morning and night, Thursday morning, and Tuesday night, the malave-malke, or festivity, will be held, at which time the new members will meet and be introduced. The public is cordially invited, and it is hoped that a number of Atlantans will be present at the opening services tonight, in order that they see the opening of this congregation in the south.

Within the next five or six months it is planned to erect a magnificent synagogue in the heart of the city, which will be an architectural beauty.

Over one hundred members of the Hebrew faith have joined this new congregation in the past few days, and it is thought that number will be doubled many times over within the next few months.

$250,000 CONCERN PLACED IN RECEIVERS' HANDS

Macon, Ga., June 9.—(Special.)—Charles B. Lewis and Baxter Jones, both of Macon, were today appointed receivers for the Riverside Fertilizer company, a $250,000 macon concern.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy had been brought against the company by T. C. Burke and John S. Schofield's Sons company, of Macon, and the Atlanta Fertilizer & Cast Point, with the request that receivers be named.

The fertilizer company consented to the receivership, and it was so ordered by Judge Emory Speer today.

MILITANT SUFFRAGETTES AGAIN BUSY WITH TORCH

London, June 9.—The "Arson squads" of the militant suffragettes have once more become very active. Beside the $70,000 fire at the Hurst Park race course last night, they destroyed this morning a boat house on the river Lea and also the grandstand at the North Middlesex cricket grounds.

The fire at Hurst Park was started in the royal box, the furniture of which had been saturated with oil. The flames were not extinguished until 8 o'clock this morning.

CHAMPION WING SHOT FOUND DEAD AT HOME

Hammonton, N. J., June 9.—Captain John F. Brewer, at one time champion wing shot of the world, was found dead today in his humble lodging in this place. Brewer was about 60 years old and lived alone. Brewer probably won more money at the traps than any other living man.

EAT MEAT SPARINGLY DURING SUMMER

Meat heats the blood—eat very little of it during hot weather. That doesn't mean that you have to sacrifice nourishing food because it is heating.

You will find Faust Spaghetti more nourishing than meat, and it is also a light, cooling food. By analysis you will find that a 10c package of Faust Spaghetti contains as much nutrition as 4 lbs. of beef. It is a rich, glutinous food made from Durum Wheat, the cereal extremely high in protein.

Faust Spaghetti can be served in many different ways—write for free recipe book. Sold in 5c and 10c packages.

Advertising drives the wheels of trade

"The difference 'twixt optimist
And pessimist is droll:
The optimist sees the doughnut,
The pessimist sees the hole."

Good verse that. And the optimist is an advertiser, you can bet. Talks right out in a straight-from-the-shoulder style. Lets folks know he's alive and ready to serve them.

Cost him money? Sure. And he spends it willingly.

He knows it will return to him in the form of more business. Has his eye on the doughnut and goes after it whole-heartedly. Leaves the hole for the chap who won't loosen up enough to toot his own horn.

You find the optimist in The Constitution. He knows it's the paper that gets him close to the people when they're in the mood to buy. Knows that if there is one thing they want when they want it, it is their morning paper.

Get your eye on the doughnut and forget the hole—

Following Orders to the Letter!

There are hundreds of good business men in Atlanta and elsewhere who have remarkable taste in the formulating of printed things, selection of paper and type, and know how to direct a piece of work to fulfill the ideal they have in their mind's eye. Men with ideas about PRINTING often find when they come to "call the printer in" that his ideas have to be so subordinated by waivers that they have no semblance to the original. Paper can't be matched. Type he wanted don't seem to be available; completion of the work must be dependent on certain fixed operations of the printer influenced either by arbitrary methods or lack of equipment and facilities. These are the sort of men we are glad to cater to. We are equipped to follow out the cherished plans in PRINTING for you; able to follow to the letter any pet scheme you may have devised along original lines, for the production of unique and effective results. Phone for our Representative to call and get your explicit orders and directions. We'll "match 'em."

TECH WILL HONOR FOUNDERS TODAY

Exercises Will Be the Crowning Feature of the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Celebration.

The celebration of founders' day at the Georgia School of Technology will begin at 8:30 o'clock this morning in the Tech Young Men's Christian association auditorium, and today's exercises will mark the crowning event of the entire anniversary program.

A. R. Colvard, president of the alumni association, will deliver an address of welcome, and an enthusiastic audience will be on hand at the Young Men's Christian association building to hear and present student life at Tech. Graduates of long ago will share the program with graduates of recent years, and they will relate their experiences out of school, as well as on the campus.

Founders' Day Exercises.

Following the alumni meeting at 11:30 o'clock in the Tech Young Men's Christian association auditorium, Dr. I. C. Hopkins, the first president of Tech, and Judge N. E. Harris, president of the board of trustees, will be orators at the founders' day exercises. They will be joined by speakers who, years ago, put Tech on a firm financial basis when their aims appeared to need that kind of help and loyalty.

C. Alphonso Smith will deliver the founders' day oration tomorrow night. There will be no admission charge. Dr. Smith, the Roosevelt professor to the University of Berlin, who for years has held the Edgar Allen Poe professorship at the University of Virginia, was chosen to represent the country in an exchange of the ablest educators and lecturers between great European universities and those of this country. His name is well known, and when he speaks in London, Berlin or any of the large cities of the world, he is invariably greeted by packed houses.

The graduating class and faculty will attend Dr. Smith's address at the Grand tonight, and from there they will adjourn to the governor's mansion, where they will be guests of governor and Mrs. Joseph M. Brown.

Burlesque Pageant Today.

Decked in gala attire the students will daily this afternoon stage the brilliant burlesque pageant which they have planning for many days, and which will be the feature number on the class day program. George M. Hope, Jr., of Atlanta, will read the class history and the class prophecy will be read by Hardeston Hall, of Atlanta.

The senior mantle will be dropped on the waiting shoulders of the juniors by Walter B. Boyd, of Atlanta. The class of 1913 has selected Austin Wien, of Eastman, Ga., to deliver the memorial from the graduates to the Georgia School of Technology and Dr. Samuel S. Wallace, head of the department of English, will accept the token for the school. The evaledictory by Robert L. Hughes will conclude the program.

Then 1,000 students will re-enact all the campus capers of the past year. Their costumes will take off professors and caricature prominent students and student activities. Peachtree and Whitehall streets will be lined by the gay burlesquers, who will promenade the campus, cutting in and then some as the parade down the streets.

A Big Jag of Joy.

This pageant is the big jag of joy of the entire celebration and the committee in charge of arrangements has aimed to make it as unique and original as the ingenuity of undergraduates could contrive. The members of the committee who are directing the pageant are A. L. Loeb, C. C. Ely, E. H. Arrington, Jack Phinizy and George M. Hope.

The sumptuous german opened the festivities on Monday, and 150 couples took part in the various figures, and danced to their heart's delight, from 11 o'clock right in the morning until 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Dr. Philander P. Claxton, of Washington, D. C., national commissioner of education, delivered the principal address of Monday's session at the Tech Y. M. C. A. auditorium. The annual president's reception occurred from 5 o'clock to 7 o'clock Monday afternoon. The grand finale of the entire Tech celebration will be the annual shop exhibit on Wednesday.

SUITS FOR REBATES ARE HELD ILLEGAL

One Shipper Cannot Claim Rebates Simply Because Granted Competitor.

Washington, June 9.—Holding that one shipper cannot sue for rebates as damages because competitors received rebates, the supreme court today reversed the decision of the Pennsylvania courts.

Justice Pitney, dissenting, declares the decision practically annulled the right of the shippers to sue for damages conferred by recent legislation, leaving a right to sue only in the most notable instances where the goods of a shipper came into competition with competitors who received rebates.

In a companion case, that of the Mitchell Coal and Coke company against the Pennsylvania railroad, the court held that shippers must go to the interstate commerce commission before suing in the courts to recover damages for unlawful discrimination in allowances for hauling on side tracks. Damages were held to be proper in case because of the "unlawful" as distinguished from the "lawful" rate charged in the other case.

In still another case, that of the Morrisdale Coal company against the same railroad, the court held shippers must go to the commission instead of to the courts in cases of unlawful discriminations resulting from the distribution of cars. Justice Pitney dissented in all these cases.

MACON BANK WINS SUIT IN THE SUPREME COURT

Washington, June 9.—An echo of the financial collapse of R. H. Plant, of Macon, Ga., in 1904, was heard today in the supreme court when it was decided that the American National bank of Nashville, Tenn., was liable to the agent of the First National bank of Macon for $3,000.

That represented the amount of a check which Plant gave to the Macon bank on the Nashville bank the Saturday before the Monday on which bankruptcy proceedings were begun against him. The Nashville bank had a deposit by Plant of $3,000. It credited the check, but the next day upon learning of Plant's insolvency claimed a right to revoke its credit and offset the $3,000 to extinguish part of Plant's indebtedness to it.

Beavers Tells Police Chiefs How He Closed Atlanta Houses

Washington, June 9.—Discussion of the social evil and its suppression, featured the first day's session of the International Association of Police Chiefs, which began its annual convention here today. In his welcoming address, President Richard Sylvester urged the members to do all in their power to aid the federal authorities in enforcing the "white slave" laws. Chief Beavers, of Atlanta, was one of the leading speakers of the day.

The "red light" district problem in many cities, was characterized by Major C. G. Kizer, of Norfolk, Va., as the first step into the segregated districts of vice. He declared such places should be subject to stringent state and municipal laws.

In the afternoon the more than 200 chiefs were received at the white house by President Wilson.

Chief Beavers speech in full is as follows:

"One of the most vital questions that is interesting our cities today is the social evil.

"Vice commissions and investigating committees are being appointed by all of our large cities, and many reports are being made by them. Some recommend one thing and some another, but very few of them have recommended the suppression.

"Why is it that so many of them favor some other remedy? Is it because they are in favor of continuing the evil instead of the suppression as a solution, or is it because they are influenced by politicians and the money interests behind them? I dare say that both have something to do with it in most instances.

"Why should any decent man say that he is in favor of public prostitution, or public indecency, for public indecency it is?

"Why should we maintain such houses before our children's eyes, for we do maintain them in a way by putting our stamp of approval on them? If we are to our boys that such houses are necessary, then we say to our neighbor's daughter that it is necessary, and we would we say a thing to our neighbor's daughter that we would not allow him to say to our daughters? It recalls to the mind the old saying that a man will protect a woman against every man but himself.

"Or shall we segregate such places near our neighbor, be he ever so humble, when we would not have them near our own door, for you cannot have such places in a city without putting them near some decent home, or where they are exposed to public gaze? Or shall we provide its strong and effective suppression and the punishment of the keepers and inmates of such places?

"I do not say that police officials can do away with this evil entirely, but I do say that it can be reduced to a minimum, and they can stop recognizing it as public officers, and thereby put their stamp of disapproval on it.

"It might take a long time for doctors to rid a city of an epidemic, but it would not take a city long to rid itself of a doctor found promoting the epidemic.

"Vice is one thing and protected vice is another, and public officials are paid to prevent crime, and when they protect it and assign a place for it, then they are subject to impeachment.

"Physicians declare the system deadly and unnecessary. Scientists say that from its bacteria blinding and blighting of babies, maiming and killing of wives. Sociologists pronounce it the greatest source of social impurity. The law forbids it as a menace to morals and health.

"I dare say that 99 officers out of 100 would enforce the laws against the social evil if they knew their jobs depended upon it. They would not stop to think whether it is necessary or not. The trouble is higher up.

Defenders of Segregation.

"Defenders of segregation have knowledge of the world. Not with it sadness they say the closing of the houses will not eliminate the social evil. Then men almost weep in referring to the antiquity of the evil, but they forget that theft was committed a long time ago, and that murder also is of ancient origin. Cain slew his brother, Abel, before the brothel had been devised. Imagination staggers at the heights to which the mind might have attained by the thief and the murderer in their peculiar lines had they been favored by a segregated district in which to ply their lawless practices. Theft and murder are older than harlotry, but the defenders of segregation would never think for a moment of advocating their protection. Is not the ruining of a girl worse than the picking of a pocket?

"I understand that a splendid Jew has been leading the battle for decency in the city of Memphis. Similar battles are being fought all over the country, and the good people are fearlessly standing the guns in the combat against this great peril that menaces our girls and threatens our glorious womanhood.

"The oldest penalty death was the penalty for the seducer of a girl. Will decent people in t is advanced time willingly sanction traffic based on the ruining of girls? Did the descendants of the Teutons, whose blood is in our veins, approve of this shame? They punished crimes against chastity with death.

"The state that officially tolerates and guarantees houses of vice assumes the role of procurer. The same must be said of cities. This policy of legally encouraging the downfall of girls cannot always exist among men of our blood and religion.

"The great city of Berlin has closed these places. Madrid and London have done the same thing. Chicago has closed them, as has eight or ten other large cities in the United States.

"Under the segregation plan the open house of vice means police protection in flagrant violating of the law. In my own city, the city of Atlanta, we had a segregated district until eight months ago. It had existed ever since Atlanta had been a city. There had always been a sentiment that such a district was necessary. Where such a sentiment originates is a question that puzzles my mind. No doubt some men are honest in their opinion that segregation is the only solution, but I am of the opinion that this sentiment is strongest with the men who receive money from such places, and men who care nothing about the morals of the community.

"On the 24th day of September, 1912, we ordered all the houses known to us to close their doors. The good people of our city offered the women and girls the way of homes and money until they could get employment so they could make an honest living. About 20 per cent of them accepted this offer, but the larger part left the city and went to other cities where they could continue the same life of prostitution they had been living in Atlanta.

"I do not say that we have none of this class of people now, nor do I say that we will not at a time when they will be eliminated from our city, but I do say there is not one recognized house in Atlanta. We have no more complaints in residence sections from assignation houses than when we had the segregated district.

"The segregated district has had the effect of decreasing crime and disorder fully one-third, which fact alone shows the wisdom of this act. Before the closing of the houses, people with the cheap hotels than before, for the reason that the proprietors knew the women were being closely watched and that they were under constant suspicion. Before the closing of the district we had much trouble with the disorderly houses as they were frequented by many young girls.

"Of course I have found much opposition to the closing of the district, but it comes mainly from the men who have been making money from it for years. There were houses that rented for from four to eight hundred dollars per month that would not have rented for more than one hundred dollars per month in the best residences in other parts of the city.

"A woman who kept one of the largest houses in the city, after the houses were closed, gave $2,500 towards establishing a home for fallen women, and the good people of the city raised the balance. The home is now in operation and open to all those who desire to reform.

"I can truthfully say that the movement has been a success in our city, and that the public, in my opinion, would not stand for a return to the old condition. Sooner or later men throughout our nation will throw off the yoke of cruel ignorance. They are doing this everywhere. Fathers and mothers are realizing that a boy is being ruined just as surely and as much as a girl, and throughout the world men are putting an end to the slavery of women. Crime against them is no longer condoned in the name of expediency and hidden beneath hypocritical silence, and rightly so.

"In the south Atlanta has taken the lead. Without the advice or interference of outsiders we have put a stop to a recognized vice. Instead of punishment and persecution, her people have offered homes and help to the pitiful victims of men's greed, and many have accepted. But not one house of ill repute known to the police is or will be tolerated in Atlanta."

KOSEME INITIATES STARTLE ATLANTA

In Strangest of Costumes Tech Boys Parade Through the Streets.

A feature of the junior prom at the Tech last night was the Koseme initiation. Koseme is an honor society composed of juniors elected at the end of their sophomore year, and the basis for determining eligibility of sophomores is their standing in the various student activities.

The stunts of the new members of the Koseme kept the dancers at the junior prom in a constant uproar. The men were all clad in fancy burlesque costumes, and arrived at the hop after a parade through the downtown streets of Atlanta.

J. Lucas typified the "hoozer" in a dress uit and a reddened nose; C. A. Stabler, gowned in decollete, was a perfect lady; B. D. Smith, the hobo, and J. J. Strickland, so disguised as to look the image of President K. G. Matheson, were arm in arm the entire evening. William Robinson, a Mexican; J. L. Parker, the devil, and L. P. Jay, made a desperate trio. The newsboy, ragged and forlorn, was pictured to perfection by E. P. Montague, and E. B. Means, a young girl; F. S. Witherinton, a German, and Ben Gantt, negro, brought up the rear of the procession, with G. M. Hill, a red-faced, wabbling sailor.

When passing through the business district Monday evening this motley crowd aroused the curiosity of throngs who followed them, wondering what it all meant.

HAWKINS STRUCK BY CAR

R. C. Bone, Driver of Auto, Gives Bond of $100.

As a result of an automobile accident at Mitchell and Whitehall streets last night, in which C. F. Hawkins, a plumber of 210 South Forsyth street, was run down, R. C. Bone, driver of the car, was arrested and carried to police headquarters where he was required to give bond of $100 for appearance in recorder's court this afternoon.

The victim was carried to Grady hospital. He sustained a fractured arm and a number of cuts and bruises about the head and body. His injuries are not serious, and he will be able to attend court this afternoon. He is about 25 years of age.

The accident occurred about 10 o'clock. Bone was driving down Whitehall street from Trinity avenue. Turning into Mitchell street at the intersection of Whitehall, he ran into Hawkins, wh had stepped from the curbing. The machine was traveling at a rate not more than seven miles an hour, eyewitnesses say.

The pedestrian was bowled over and knocked completely under the car. Bone stopped with the man crumpled up beneath his machine. Passers-by ran to extricate the victim. He was found to be suffering from a broken right arm. Plainclothes Policemen Carter and Pittman summoned an ambulance for Hawkins and drove with Bone to police station.

Drugs and Toilet Articles are in such frequent use in our every-day life—particularly these warm days—that we naturally seek to buy where we can purchase best and at the most advantageous prices.

In recent years druggists have more and more realized the value and power of regular newspaper advertising, and it is worthy of note that the largest drug stores are the ones most conspicuous in the advertising columns of the newspapers. Advertising attracts customers.

The druggist who advertises may be depended upon. His stocks are fresh and reliable, his prices right. He wants the people to know these things—to know that it is to their advantage to buy from him.

Such advertisements appear frequently in The Constitution and merit your special consideration.

STOP THAT ITCH WITH RESINOL!

Brings Instant Relief and Quickly Clears Away Skin Eruptions.

If your skin itches and burns with eczema or other tormenting, unsightly skin trouble, simply wash the sore places with Resinol Soap and hot water, dry, and apply a little Resinol Ointment.

The itching stops instantly, you no longer have to dig and scratch, sleep becomes possible and healing begins at once. That is because the soothing, antiseptic Resinol medication strikes right into the surface, arrests the action of the disease and lets the tortured, inflamed skin rest, almost always restoring it to perfect health—so 'tisn't safe to trifle with.

Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are also speedily effective in even the stubbornest cases of pimples, blackheads, dandruff, sores and piles. Prescribed by doctors for eighteen years, and sold by practically every druggist in the United States. For generous sample of each, write to Dept. 43-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

Come Up Where You Belong!

In the human body, "man-power" comes from food.

But the food must be right.

The gray tissue cells of Brain and Nerves are composed principally of water, albumen and Phosphate of Potash. The first two exist in every-day food, but phosphate of potash is frequently lacking.

This necessary element is supplied in

Grape-Nuts

FOOD

Made of choice wheat and barley, it contains all the vital mineral salts of these grains, including the phosphate of potash so essential for proper nourishment of Brain and Nerves.

Grape-Nuts food is thoroughly baked, digests easily (in about one hour), and thus forms a perfect complement to ordinary food in the dietary of the average person.

Grape-Nuts—more than any other one factor—supplies both body and brain with nourishment up to the standard of Nature's requirements.

If health and the efficiency which comes with it appeal to you, try Grape-Nuts!

Ready to eat direct from the package with cream and sugar—and wonderfully appetizing.

Why do Brewers of Germany and England use only Brown Bottles?

Sunlight grows the hops, but spoils the brew.

Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass gives best protection against light.

In England and Germany the brewers won't use light glass bottles.

"Beer should not be exposed to the light, especially direct sunlight, as it will thereby be detrimentally affected, the light having an influence upon the albuminoids in the beer, causing the latter to become hazy."

The Barons' flag raising day of Monday was deferred until today when the Barons and Crackers line up in a double-header. A record crowd is expected.

Flag Raising Postponed—Two Games Today

EDITED BY Dick Jemison

WHIFFS

In Their Favor.

THE BARONS will have a chance to beat Atlanta in an attendance point. Everything is in their favor. They will present a doubleheader to the Birmingham fans today for pennant raising day and the two attractions combined ought to give them the one grand opportunity to break the local record. But at that, we doubt their ability to do so.

Call Both Games.

CALLER KING will detail both games of the doubleheader in Birmingham today. The first pastime is scheduled to start at 2:15 o'clock. Brady and Price will do the hurling act for the Crackers, Foxen and Thompson will hurl for the Barons.

Broke His Streak.

CY FALKENBERG had his winning streak broken by the Red Sox Monday. He dropped his first game in eleven pitched. The only pitcher in the big leagues now whose record has not been broken is Alexander, of Philadelphia. He has won eight without losing any. He'll get his shortly. They all do.

Breaking Bad.

THE AMERICAN polo team is getting all the bad breaks in advance of their match with the English team in defense of the international trophy. The first match takes place today. After selecting the team to defend the cup, injuries made it necessary that an entire new team be chosen, and just two days before the meeting. If the Americans win under this handicap, great will be their glory. The "Big Four," Whitney, Milburn and the two Waterburys, will try to defend the cup successfully again.

More Changes.

C. FRANK is rankling at the bit. It is so unlike the Dutchman to have a team in the cellar that he is fast making changes in his lineup to stem the slump. Frank Manush has been given his unconditional release, and Josh Swindell, who has been no use to him at all this season, has been sold to Cleveland. The Naps will probably ship him to Toledo. Frank has a new outfielder named Kyle already in the lineup, and seems certain to make many more changes in the near future.

The Loud Noise.

INTEREST in the American league pennant race centers this week on Shibe Park. The Athletics and the Naps meet there Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and these three games are going to have a direct bearing on the pennant race. The Naps are pushing the White Elephants closely for the lead. A battle of giants is sure to be in store for the fans.

Where He Slipped.

CONNIE MACK very seldom misses one, but it looks like he slipped up when he let Cy Morgan go to the Kansas City club, of the American association. And Connie is one of the first to realize it, too. The astute mogul of the Mackmen is using every pursuasive power to buy Morgan back, but as yet the K. C. management cannot see it his way. Morgan is keeping them in the pennant race.

Sensible Rule.

JUDGE KAVANAUGH has issued a ruling that should benefit his umpires. He has officially stated that if the weather becomes too hot for their coats they can doff them. Maybe he could issue some other ruling that would tend to increase the efficiency of the umpires. If he can do this the fans will all thank him. Bill Hart is the best umpire we have seen this season. His work at Ponce was as good as one would care to see. Here's hoping they send him back here next week.

Shake, Old Boy.

TALLEY, in The Nashville Democrat, commenting on President Kavanaugh's probable decision to order the games played over that Nashville and Atlanta aquabilad about, says "This seems to be the best solution of the mess." Hit the nail on the head the first time, Talley, old boy.

Standing Pat.

BILL SMITH is going to stand pat on the present Atlanta team—at least for a while. He believes that the present personnel is formidable enough to win ball games, and the present pitching staff can come through with a sufficient number of victories to enable the club to start climbing. He will try out this theory for the next couple of weeks, and, then, if it fails, he'll make some more changes. But we are prone to side with Bill this time.

Badly Worried.

SHAWNEE BILL Bailey is a very much worried athlete. His inability to hit with last season's regularity is causing him many sleepless nights. But the main cause of Bailey's worry is that his hitting at bad balls this season. Bailey has always been considered as one of the hardest men in the league to pitch to, never hitting at a bad ball, but this year balls that he used to whang a mile have captured his angora. But Bill says it will shift soon. Here's hoping.

Rain Prevents Flag Raising; Brady and Price Will Hurl Against the Barons Today

By Hugh W. Roberts.

Birmingham, Ala., June 9—(Special.)—A constant shower of rain, beginning in the morning and continuing through the afternoon, put a quietus on the pennant-raising ceremonies.

A double-header has been scheduled for tomorrow afternoon and between the battles the captured bunting will be raised to its lofty perch in centerfield.

The interference of the elements proved a great disappointment to President Kavanaugh and the Atlanta directors, who were eager for the festive occasion. The league's executive was forced to leave for Little Rock tonight, while the Atlanta directors also left without witnessing the event.

Sandwiched in between two battles the pennant raising will occur, with Harry Jones master of ceremonies and the players and officials as participants.

Manager Molesworth has announced that Foxen will open for the Barons, while Manager Smith will send Brady to the firing line in the initial struggle.

Thompson will serve in the second game, while the Atlanta pilot has intimated that Price will ornament the slab.

The flag-raising ceremonies will be short and simple, while it is expected that a record-breaking crowd will witness the celebration if the sun shines. The weather forecast is favorable.

Eight Southerners on Roster Of Mike Finn's Leading Gulls

If Mike Finn's 1913 Mobile team can cop the Dixie pennant it will be most appropriate inasmuch as eight of the fifteen athletes doing duty on behalf of the local club are southerners. A discussion on the bench during the rain which stopped yesterday's game brought out the fact that eight of the Mobile players boast the south as their home and for a few moments north and south looked for a lively battle of words, the latter winning out, because of their majority.

Both the Gull catchers, Charley Schmidt and Larry Brown are southern boys, Schmidt from Fort Smith, Ark., and Brown from Birmingham. The pitching corps furnishes two more southerners in Bradley Hogg, of Buena Vista, Ga., and "Pug" Cavet from Fort Worth, Texas. The outfield, as it now stacks up, is an All-Southern one, Jimmy Clark, Dave Robertson and Paul Sentell, the former residing in Baltimore, Robertson in Portsmouth, Va., and Sentell from New Orleans. Gene Paulet is a Little Rock boy, making eight southerners on the team.

With the Gulls out in front and making history in the southern league, the fact that the team is composed of a majority of southerners has caused not how appropriate it would be for them to cop the Dixie pennant. Then, too, Mike Finn, another southerner, will be at the head of the victorious team, and would be quite a feat could the Gull leader land his first pennant in the league ruled with a team composed in the majority of athletes boasting Dixie as their home.—Mobile Register.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE

Gulls 3, Turtles 2.

Mobile, Ala., June 9.—Mobile took the first of the series from Memphis this afternoon in an exciting twelve-inning battle, an error by Butler giving the locals the winning run in the twelfth. The score was 4 to 3. Mobile scored in the fourth without a hit, fast work on the bases accounting for the run. Memphis tied it in the sixth on hits and then went one to the good in the seventh. In Mobile's half of the same inning the locals tied the score again on a walk, sacrifice and Paulet's timely single. Mobile won in the twelfth on Stonk's hit, a sacrifice, an infield out, and Butler's error on Clark's grounder. Hogg was hit hard but Mobile held remarkably well behind him, fourteen catches saving him defeat several times. Parsons pitched fine ball, but was wild and this, with errors, beat him.

HARRY WELCHONCE.

Crackers' speedy centerfielder, who has just gotten into his true stride. He is now hitting at a .324 clip, which is a natural clip for him, and he gives every indication of getting better as the season progresses. This time last year, Harry was not in the .300 class, which is evidence that he will probably hit higher this season than last.

McLoughlin and Williams Too Fast for Australasians

New York, June 9.—One stake of America's quest of the Davis cup, emblematic of the world's lawn tennis championship, was conquered here this afternoon when the United States team won the final and deciding matches of the preliminary tie against Australasia.

On the turf courts of the West Side Tennis club Maurice E. McLoughlin defeated Stanley N. Doust, in straight sets by scores of 6-4, 6-4, 6-2 and R. Norris Williams II won from H. M. Rice, 1-6, 6-4, 6-1, 3-6, 7, 6-2.

Either victory was sufficient to clinch the series. When the rival players in the first of the day's singles resumed the battle of the clinched contest twilight had some consolation—a dispatch from Washington announcing the arrival of a son.

Score by innings. R. H. E.
Cleveland ..... 000 000 010—1 8 1
Boston ..... 010 010 11x—4 7 2

Batteries—Mitchell and Carisch; Bedient and Carrigan. Time 1:45. Umpires Connolly and McGreavey.

Yanks 4, White Sox 1.

New York, June 9.—The New York Americans defeated Chicago today, 4 to 1. The Highlanders won by timely infield hits off Cicotte in the fifth. Peck was hit hard in spots but good support helped him out of several tight places.

Jim Savage and Sailor White Due in City This Afternoon; Meet at Auditorium Friday

Jim Savage and Sailor White will reach Atlanta this afternoon from New York ready for the bout Friday night at the Atlanta Auditorium-Armory. Both men are trained and ready for a hard struggle.

There is not any doubt but that Jim Flynn was afraid to meet Savage in Atlanta Friday night. He claimed a broken hand, but cold feet fits the case better.

When the chance of taking Flynn's place was offered to Sailor White he grabbed at it. This man would tackle anybody. He is a huge bulk of a man, weighing way over 200 pounds and strong in proportion. He believes that no scrapper in the world is his equal.

More than that, White's plan of campaign is always based on the belief that he is bound to win and the quicker the better. He is a perfect fool for knockouts for and against him. And this has happened in White's case. He has been put out a couple of times. But he has put out a lot of the cleverest heavyweights in the business. And he has not been in a scrap yet where there was not action a-plenty.

White is a coming scrapper. Anybody with his strength and his willingness is going to be heard from. More than that, White is just the man to bring out the very best game of Jim Savage. Being primarily a boxer, there are times when Jim slumps back to mere boxing. When a guy carries it to him, however, he has no alternative than to mix. That enables him to show his cleverness and to land his new punch as well.

With White the aggressor and with Savage always forced to the limit to defend himself from the tearing rushes of his big opponent there should be ten rounds of tremendous action on Friday night.

But all the excitement will not be concentrated in the final bout—not by a long ways. M. Pries and Spider Britt will put on another grudge fight as a ten-round opener. These lads have had an unpleasantness pending for a long time now and they will get it out of their system on Friday night. Both lads will be required to post some appearance money to guarantee their safe arrival in the ring.

Mike Saul and Terry Nelson, another pair of willing workers, will figure in the semi-windup, also at ten rounds. These lads don't know how to do anything but scrap.

POLO FOURS CLASH AT MEADOWBROOK

English Challengers Rule Favorites Over Americans. First Game Will Be Played Today.

Westbury, N. Y., June 9.—Everything is in readiness for the first game tomorrow afternoon on the Meadowbrook field of the polo match between teams representing the United States and England for possession of the international polo cup, which is now held this country.

The players are in good condition and the ponies of both teams are superb and fine fettled a lot as ever chased a white down the field. Fair weather and good weather is promised for the game.

American experts are of the opinion that the defending four under Captain Whitney have a good fighting chance to retain the trophy.

OPERATION ON HEAD OF HOME-RUN SCHULTE

Chicago, June 9.—Frank Schulte, right fielder of the Chicago Nationls, underwent an operation yesterday for the removal of a growth from his forehead. During the last few weeks he has been troubled with intermittent headaches, which are believed to have been due to a lump which formed on a spot where he was struck by a baseball about a year ago.

Wolgast Forced Into Three Months' Idleness By Injury to Thumb

Los Angeles, Cal., June 9.—Confronted with three months of idleness to allow his injured thumb to heal, Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion, is planning a three months' visit to the Hawaiian islands. It is possible he never will be able to fight again, though his physician is hopeful.

Wolgast suffered the injury during his training for a fight with Johnny Dundee, which was to have taken place here tomorrow night.

MOTORS TO BUZZ AT MOTORDROME

Weather Permitting, Speed Fans Will Have Desires Filled Tonight—Starts 8:30 O'Clock.

Motor Facts Briefly.

Time, 8:30. Doors open at 7 o'clock.

Place, new motordrome at old show grounds.

Cars leave Five Points at two-minute intervals.

Nine races, nine famous riders.

Speed expected—ninety miles an hour or better.

Track—Four lap, sharply banked.

Motordrome motorcycle racing, the most sensational of civilized sports, will be introduced to the Atlanta public tonight, rain always permitting, at Jack Prince's new board track at the old show grounds.

For three weeks now the pick of the American riders have been encamped at the show grounds, awaiting impatiently the opening of the track and the beginning of the local season.

Rain interfered with the first attempt to hold a meet—as it always does when Jack Prince attempts a debut here.

Three Big Events.

Three important events are down for decision—the Atlanta sweepstakes, the Motordrome purse and a special three-cornered match race. All the riders at the track are entered in the first two, which will be split up into three heats and a final. In the sweepstakes the heats will be at a mile and the final at five miles. In the purse the heats will be two miles and the final three miles.

The length and other conditions of the special meet have not been determined yet. It will depend on what riders are intact and in good running order when the first two events are out of the way.

Just the possibilities of ninety-mile-an-hour racing, on a four-lap track, banked like the sides of a washtub, at night, under the glare of electrics, are hard to appreciate. That it is thrilling is about the least that could be said of it.

The Program.

The program is as follows:

First event, Atlanta sweepstakes, one-mile heats, first man in each heat and second man in fastest heat to qualify for finals.

Race 1—First heat, No. 1, Marty Graves, of Los Angeles; No. 2, Harry Swarts, of Denver; No. 3, Willie Shields, of Brooklyn.

Race 2—Second heat, No. 4, George Lockner, of Syracuse; No. 5, "Tex" Richards, of Dallas; No. 6, Freddie Luther, of Fort Worth.

Race 3—Third heat, No. 7, Georges Renel, of Paris; No. 8, Jock McNeil, of Edinborough; No. 9, Henry Lewis, of Springfield, Mass.

Race 4—Final heat in Atlanta sweepstakes, five miles. First prize, $40; second prize, $20; third prize, $20.

Second event, Motordrome purse, two-mile heats, first man in each heat and second man in fastest heat to qualify.

Race 5—First heat, "Tex" Richards, Willie Shields, Georges Renel.

Race 6—Second heat, Marty Graves, Henry Lewis, George Lockner.

Race 7—Third heat, Jock McNeil, Harry Swarts, Fred Luther.

Race 8—Final heat in Motordrome purse, three miles. First prize, $25; second prize, $20; third prize, $10.

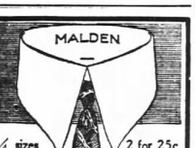
Race 9 — Special three-cornered match race, the riders to be announced Tuesday night. First prize, $25; second prize, $20; third prize, $15.

Kilbane v. Fox.

Oakland, Cal., June 9.—Johnny Kilbane, of Cleveland, featherweight champion, and Johnny Fox, a San Francisco boxer, have completed training for their ten-round bout here tomorrow night. The champion rules a pronounced favorite in the quoted odds. They will fight at 124 pounds ringside.

Gurley 2, Lowe Mill 1.

Huntsville, Ala., June 9.—(Special.)—The Gurley baseball team defeated the Lowell Mill team by a score of 2 to 1 Saturday afternoon. Charlie Joplin, a southern shortstop for the University of Alabama, played with Gurley and was the star of the game.



A very popular shape that'll be in style ever so long. Not too radical but a delightful change from the more conservative shapes.

YALE BULLDOGS WIN IN TWELFTH ROUND

Princeton, N. J., June 9.—Princeton and Yale played off their baseball tie of Saturday this afternoon and it took twelve innings to decide the issue, Yale winning 5 to 4.

As Yale won the first game between the two teams at New Haven on May 31, today's game gave them the series. It is the first time in four years that Yale has captured the series and the first time since 1895 that they have won two straight games from the Tigers.

Yale won the game in the twelfth, when Middlebrook singled, stole second and third and tallied when Gill played Blossom's grounder to first instead of the plate.

QUERIES ANSWERED

Under this head the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: 1. Where is Lew Richie, recently of the Cubs? 2. Is Harry Davis playing with the Athletics this season, and if not, where is he?

J. O. F.

1. He's still with the Cubs. 2. Yes.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: On Wednesday A bets B that Atlanta and Chattanooga both win; also bets Atlanta and Memphis both win. Atlanta played a tie game, Chattanooga wins, Memphis loses. What are the results of the bets? Thanking you for your information, I am,

J. D. H.

The tie game declares all bets off.

Mr. Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: I will appreciate it if you will state for me in The Constitution, if it is possible to score a hit and an error on the same batted ball. In other words, take a drive to left, after the ball has hit the ground and become an easy single, fielder starts in after it, gets his hands on it and then lets it get through him—result, runner goes to second—one base further than if the ball had been properly handled. Does the batter get a hit and the fielder an error?

J. T. B.

Yes.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: 1. What did Mr. Smith do with Buck Weaver? 2. Who is in second place, Atlanta or Nashville?

S. B. W. J.

1. Sent him to New Orleans. 2. Nashville.

INTEREST CENTERED IN SENATE PRESIDENCY

Anderson and Allen Open Headquarters in Kimball Next Week.

There is every indication that the contest for the presidency of the state senate will furnish most of the political excitement preliminary to the meeting of the legislature this year.

J. Randolph Anderson, of Savannah, senator from the first district, and John T. Allen, of Milledgeville, senator from the twentieth, are in the race, in it to the neck, and in it to the finish whatever that may be, so they say. Both are good men and have many friends in the state who are boosting their respective candidacies.

The contest will reach an acute stage when both candidates open headquarters at the Kimball house which they will do next week. Mr. Anderson has secured rooms 105 and 107, while his rival will be on the next floor in rooms 208 and 210. As both candidates now cleam, as it is understood, 26 votes pledged out of a possible total of 44, and as the finish battle will be waged in the same building, there promise to make it interesting to political onlookers for a while. So far no personalities have entered into the contest. Both men have been supporters of Governor Brown in all of his campaigns for governor and generally speaking they have slept in the same political bed.

Burwell Leads in House Fight.

With the withdrawal of H. J. Fullbright, of Burke, from the speakership race, there are still three candidates left in that contest namely, W. H. Burwell, of Hancock; R. N. Hardeman, of Jefferson, and J. E. Sheppard, of Sumter. As it seems to be th eprevailing opinion of political gossipers that Mr. Burwell has considerably the best of his opponents and will probably be elected speaker on the first ballot, there is not near so much interest shown in that contest as there is in the fight for the presidency of the senate.

MAYOR WOODWARD WILL APPROVE JUNE BUDGET

Finance Sheet Must Be Returned to Council by Wednesday Afternoon.

Mayor James G. Woodward said yesterday that he had not approved the June budget, which carries $260,000 for the cash purchase of the crematory. He indicated that he would approve the sheet if it does not contain some appropriation of which he is not aware.

The sheet has not reached the mayor yet. It was still in the hands of the city clerk at a late hour Monday afternoon. Chairman G. Humphrey, of the finance committee, says he is certain the mayor will approve it.

"He need not have so much fear as to what it contains," Chairman Humphrey said. "It is what it does not contain that is distasteful to this committee and the city at large."

Council Meets Wednesday.

Council will meet again Wednesday afternoon. The sheet must be returned by the mayor before the meeting. It makes little difference whether he approves it or not. Council will override his veto if the sheet is not approved.

The proposition agreed to by the Destructor company, through Spence and Evins, its attorneys, on the crematory deal, together with the specifications upon which the contract was made, was submitted to Mayor Woodward Monday afternoon. He was busily engaged reading over the various clauses of the proposal when approached. He said that the proposal binds the city to carry out some parts of the old contract which the supreme court invalidated, and hinted that he would demand a change.

"I am going to insist that every clause of the new agreement is disassociated from the old contract," the mayor said. "I am doing this simply to get this deal put through in an absolutely legal manner."

Injunction Displeases Mayor.

Mayor Woodward is displeased over the action taken to prevent by injunction, the carrying out of the contract between the city and the Okenite company to install a fire alarm system for $106,000.

The mayor says that the supreme court decision in the crematory matter has placed in his hands the authority to deal with "moral obligation" contracts, and intimated that he would ask the emplainants in the suit to withdraw it.

"I think I am in a position where I can settle this matter out of court, and at the same time save the city money," he said.

Council will pass on the new proposal of the Destructor company Wednesday afternoon.

ELKS WILL CELEBRATE FLAG DAY SATURDAY

Atlanta Lodge, No. 78, B. P. O. Elks, according to the patriotic requirements of the government of their order, will celebrate the 136th birthday of the United States flag next Saturday night at 8 o'clock, in the lodge room on the fourth floor of the Elks home, 40 East Ellis street.

There exercises will be characterized by a highly inviting and interesting program. Rabbi David Marx and Colonel Walter P. Andrews, past exalted ruler of Atlanta lodge, No. 78, will deliver addresses. The history of the flag will be told by Miss Regina Rambo. Besides special music by an orchestra, other interesting musical features will be the rendition of the "Flag Song," by Mrs. Edgar McKee, with verses composed by herself and dedicated to the flag, a tenor solo by William Mohrer; a soprano solo by Mrs. Frederick E. Knoll, and another vocal selection by Wilford Watters. Rev. Dr. W. Memminger will deliver the Elks' tribute to the flag. Altar services will be conducted by the esquire and other members of the lodge. The public is invited to attend the exercises Saturday evening.

Washington, June 9.—China today became the fourteenth nation to indorse secretary Bryan's peace plan. Minister Chaux called upon the secretary and told him that his government had accepted the idea in principle and would like to consider the details.

COURT MAKES DEMAND FOR IMPORTANT DEEDS

Decree Signed in Case Brought by the Chandler Land Corporation.

The clerk of the United States district court has received a decree signed by Judge Pardee requiring the Georgia Land and Timber company, W. B. Ellington, J. L. Sweat, J. D. Blalock and J. M. Parks, as defendants, to surrender certain important deeds. The case was brought by the Chandler Land corporation as ancillary to the celebrated suit of Baker et al. vs. McKee et al., filed several years ago, and still pending in the United States court.

The Chandler Land corporation charged that defendants first above mentioned have colluded and conspired to seize a portion of plaintiff's holdings in Ware county, Georgia, amounting to about 2,000 acres, by the wrongful use of certain deeds in the custody of J. M. Parks as a commissioner of the federal court. The decree sustains the contention of the plaintiff, and removed Parks from office as commissioner, and appoints O. C. Fuller in his place.

The main bill which was brought by heirs of Henry Bell against the heirs of Joseph McKee was filed some fifteen years ago, involving lands worth half a million dollars, and under this bill, by a consent decree, the Chandler Land corporation acquired a considerable portion of the holdings involved in that suit. J. M. Parks was the last of a series of commissioners appointed in the main case as custodian of the unsold lands and the deeds.

The Chandler Land corporation is a Georgia company, Charles J. Haden being president. It was represented by Watkins & Latimer.

From an Immaculate Plant

The main plant of Anheuser-Busch requires 110 separate buildings.

It covers 142 acres, equal to 70 city blocks.

6,000 people are employed here and 1,500 others in branches.

Home cleanliness is maintained in every nook and corner of this institution.

One can't go through on a tour of inspection, as hundreds do each day, and not get a quality-impression.

THE ADVENTURES OF DOTTO, THE WANT AD SCOUT---Settling the Summer Vacation Question.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES, DAY BY DAY

ALL THE NEWS OF REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

At a meeting of members of the Atlanta Real Estate Board in charge of commerce hall Monday afternoon the realty men decided to send the Georgia representatives in congress a formal protest against two clauses contained in the income tax bill now pending.

The complaints of the realty men were set forth in the letter calling Monday's meeting as follows.

"From the information at hand the income tax contains two provisions that will work extreme hardship upon the real estate business.

"First—The tenants are required to hold up the possible amount the landlord may owe the government on income tax until the end of the year. This will create endless confusion and lay the landlords open to suffer loss from irresponsible tenants who may have disappeared in the meantime.

"The other clause taxes the income without crediting the interest charged on mortgages where mortgages exceed the capital stock of the company. As an illustration: A corporation with a $100,000 capital, owning an office building with a $200,000 mortgage thereon, can only take credit for the interest charged on $100,000, thus forcing them to pay on the income represented by the other $100,000, which is in reality an expense and not profit.

"Unless a strong protest is entered at once these clauses will become law.

"It is therefore necessary that the parties who feel an interest in this subject meet with us at that time."

Real Estate Sales.

W. S. McBride, of the Clark & McBride company, has made the third sale of the property at the southwest corner of Hunter and Haynes street.

He sold this property for N. H. Pollock to Judges L. S. Roan and C. S. Reid, the latter of Palmetto, for an aggregate of $32,000. The property consists of a three-story, millionstructed building on a lot 56x110.

THEATER AND MOVING PICTURE SHOW

To be Sold to Highest Bidder at Auction Saturday, June 14th, at 2 P. M.

WE WILL first sell the different articles separately, and will then offer the entire outfit in a lump, reserving the right to accept either a lump-sale price or the individual sales that are first made. These will positively be no by-bidding, but every article enumerated below will positively be sold and the bids accepted either from the first sale separately or the lump, as the owner may see fit to accept. The articles which we offer for sale are as follows:

One large counter showcase.
One combination cigar and candy case.
One electric piano.
One upright piano (both in good shape).
One sodafount and fixtures.
One large upright furnace (which can be placed underneath a house or on back porch), sufficient to heat any reasonable size house.
One outfit for making carbonated waters.
One ticket stand.
One cash register.
Twenty-four rolls of music for the electric piano.
One roller-top desk and chair.
One medium-sized iron safe.
Several small tables.
Six radiators for steam fixtures.
Four hundred and eighty-eight first-class, up-to-date opera or schoolhouse chairs.
Four cane-bottom chairs.
Twelve electric fans.
Seventy-two box seat chairs, used in ice cream parlors.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

property is now leased to Sullivan & Co., a wholesale furniture concern, for a long term at $200 a month.

The property was first sold by Mr. McBride last May a year ago for A. A. Rayles, Jr., to Mrs. Ora B. Mangum for $27,000. He then sold it for Mrs. Mangum to Mr. Bullock for $28,500.

There has been considerable activity in the zone around the A., B. & A. freight depot, which is across the street from the above corner. The A., B. & A. building has been leased to two large jobbing concerns for a long term.

Joseph F. Gatins, of New York, has sold to J. K. Shippey, who transferred the property to Shippey Brothers & White, a large tract of railroad frontage on Marietta street which Mr. Gatins bought some time ago from James W. English, Jr. The price was $26,250.

The property begins 596.8 feet northwest of Jefferson street. It fronts 150 feet on Marietta street, with a depth of 397 feet back to the Western and Atlantic railroad, where there is over 400 feet of frontage.

Mr. McBride, in conjunction with George P. Moore, also sold for W. D. Newsom to N. H. Bullock the northeast corner of Forrest avenue and Lowndes street, a two-story brick apartment house, for an aggregate of $18,000.

The building occupies a lot 50x150 and contains a two-room room and two six-room apartments, bringing a rental of $210 a month.

Werner J. Bjck has sold to Harry Cohen No. 197 Washington street for a consideration of $9,375.

This property consists of a dwelling on a lot fronting 52 feet with a depth of 196 feet.

The Ralph O. Cochran company has sold for M. Roberts to Mrs. W. P. Smith No. 184 East Merritts avenue, a six-room house on a lot 40x88, for $2,200.

CONDITION OF WHEAT REPORTED BY BUREAU

Washington, June 9.—Some idea of the area planted to the great grain crops of the country and of the prospective size of these crops, with the exception of corn, was given today when the department of agriculture, at 2:30 p. m., issued its June crop report, showing the condition of three grains on June 1, the acreage planted to each and estimates of the yield per acre and the total production, based upon the ratio of the average condition on June 1 to the final yield in preceding years. These statistics were gathered from the many correspondents and agents of the department's bureau of statistics and compiled at the agricultural board. Statistics for the various crops, with comparisons for other years, follow:

Spring wheat: Area planted, 18,663,000 acres, compared with 19,242,000 acres last year, 20,281,000 acres in 1911 and 18,332,000 acres in 1910. Condition, 83.5 per cent of a normal, compared with 93.5 per cent last year, and 93.8 per cent the ten-year average. Indicated yield, 13.2 bushels per acre, compared with 17.2 bushels last year, and 13.3 bushels, the 1908-12 average. Estimated total production, 252,000,000 bushels, compared with 330,348,000 bushels last year, 290,682,000 bushels in 1911, 200,979,000 bushels in 1910, and 231,963,000 bushels in 1909.

Winter wheat: Area planted, 20,928,000 acres, compared with 26,571,000 acres last year, 29,182,000 acres in 1911 and 30,932,000 acres in 1910. Condition, 83.5 per cent of a normal, compared with 93.5 per cent last year, and 93.8 per cent the ten-year average. Indicated yield, 15.2 bushels per acre, compared with 17.2 bushels last year, and 15.3 bushels, the 1908-12 average. Estimated total production, 252,000,000 bushels, compared with 330,348,000 bushels last year, 290,682,000 bushels in 1911, 200,979,000 bushels in 1910, and 231,963,000 bushels in 1909.

All wheat: Area planted, 39,591,000 acres, compared with 45,814,000 acres last year, 49,463,000 acres in 1911 and 45,081,000 acres in 1910. Condition, 83.5 per cent of a normal, compared with 93.5 per cent last year, and 86.1 per cent the ten-year average. Indicated yield, 14.1 bushels per acre, compared with 17.2 bushels last year, and 14.2 bushels, the 1908-12 average. Estimated total production, 744,000,000 bushels, compared with 730,267,000 bushels last year, 621,264,000 bushels in 1911, 435,327,000 bushels in 1910 and 683,000,000 bushels in 1909.

Oats: Area planted, 38,343,000 acres, compared with 37,917,000 acres last year, 37,762,000 acres in 1911 and 37,548,000 acres in 1910. Condition, 87.0 per cent of a normal, compared with 91.1 per cent last year and 88.4 per cent, the ten-year average. Indicated yield, 31.1 bushels per acre, compared with 37.4 bushels last year, and 30.9 bushels, the 1908-12 average. Estimated total production, 1,104,000,000 bushels, compared with 1,418,337,000 bushels last year, 922,298,000 bushels in 1911, 1,180,241,000 bushels in 1910 and 1,007,000,000 in 1909.

Coffee.

New York, June 9.—Coffee futures opened barely steady at a decline of 3@27 points in response to lower cables, but soon rallied on trade liquidation and coal reserve. Big receipts reported at the Brazilian ports as compared with last year tended to offset the primitive rains in Sao Paulo. The market soon fell into new strong swing on bullish European cables and late markets abroad and an easier local spot situation. Closing prices were steady, net unchanged to 28 to 32 points. Sales 65,250.

Coffee spot, Rio, steady, 20¼; Santos 20¼. Mild coffee quiet: Cordova 14@17, nominal.

Havre 19¼ to 19¾ francs lower. Hamburg ¼ to ½ pfennig lower. Rio and Santos unchanged. Brazilian receipts 24,000, against 24,000 last year.

Jundiahy receipts 11,000, against 2,000 last year.

Sao Paulo receipts for two days 8,000, against 10,000 the previous day.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL OF THE MARKETS

SHARP ADVANCE MADE IN THE COTTON MARKET

Opening at Decline, the Market Became Firm on Covering by Shorts.

New York, June 9.—The cotton market showed renewed strength today with prices making new high ground for the movement and closing steady at a net advance of 9 to 13 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 to 5 points, in sympathy with lower cables than due, but the market almost immediately firmed up on covering which seemed to be chiefly inspired by the prevailing uncertainness as to the situation in the near months owing to further shipments from the local stock. The relative firmness here led to a further narrowing of the difference between New York and Liverpool and straddling houses are reported to be selling December against July. In some instances, however, these sales were replaced by purchases of August, while there was active covering of May by Wall street shorts and some scattered buying of old crop positions against sales of new crop deliveries.

Houses with Liverpool connections bought new crops as well as August and the active old crop months sold 18 to 20 points above the early decline yesterday afternoon, while early new crop deliveries sold 8 to 10 points above the closing figures of last week.

There were no new developments of executive significance from some sections of the eastern belt, but, generally speaking, the rains reported since Saturday were characterized as beneficial and private crop accounts were favorable enough to suggest that there had been no change in the crop situation to help the advance. The foreign buying of new crop months, however, was said by some to be for outside interests and local bulls attributed the steady ruling of the late deliveries to a speculative short interest whose covering is for the purpose of the fall against trade requirements.

Private cables indicated that the market there has been sold off on favorable crop accounts and renewed uneasiness as to the situation in the Balkans, but the large English spot sales may have contributed to the firmness of old crop positions here.

Remarks.

In the past 48 hours rain has been general throughout the belt, locally heavy at widely separated stations, and the temperatures continue seasonably high for the season.

Minimum temperatures are for current period ending at 8 a. m. this date. 5-Record not included in averages. 1-Higher yesterday. 2-Lower for 24 hours ending 8 a. m. 75th meridian time.

NOTE—The average highest and lowest temperatures are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received, and the average precipitation from the number of stations reporting 0.10 inch or more. The state of weather" is that prevailing at time of observation.

C. F. von HERRMANN,
Section Director Weather Bureau.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, June 9.—The cotton market showed decided strength today. It is no matter to be short of the crop at present prices, and this fact is becoming more plainly manifest every day. The bear months are very strong and new crop months are bulls' eyes. There was no weakness today at any time from the opening to the close and the market closed from 5 to 13 points net higher.

Liverpool is due to come about unchanged tomorrow.

The best buying of new crop months seems to come from foreign mills and many American mills are beginning to come in for it.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, June 9.—While reports of several rains in Texas are assured, nothing came here at the opening today. The market soon afterward turned firm, under a steady demand for July and August. The trade brought also, covering of the new crop months, which was urgent as in the summer months still present enough in absorb offerings at an advance. The strength of July and August, as well as the decreasing local stock movement with a generally better spot demand. These conditions have made shorts nervous in these months and their covering has advanced the market.

Treasury Statement.

Washington, June 9.—The condition of the United States treasury at the beginning of business today was:

Working balance, $64,291,467.
In banks and Philippine treasury, $47,852,649.
Total of general fund, $111,744,116.
Receipts Saturday, were $3,102,005.
Disbursements, $2,948,184.
Surplus this fiscal year is $9,846,147, as against a deficit of $3,182,682 last year.
The figures for receipts, disbursements, surplus and deficit exclude Panama canal and public debt transactions.

SHORTAGE IN SUPPLY PUT WHEAT PRICES UP

Market Closed Firm at Advance of One-Eighth to One-Half Cent.

Chicago, June 9.—Government estimates this afternoon regarding the 1913 crop of wheat proved to be almost exactly as figured out here in advance by experts. More interest was taken in a big decrease of the visible supply total. The result was a firm close at a net advance of 1-8 to 3-8@1-2c. Corn finished a sixteenth to 1-4c up, oats with a gain of 1-4@1-4c to 1-4 @3-8c and provisions varying from a shade decline to 10c increase.

Although wheat at the outset was under some selling pressure, due to rains in Kansas and suffered a temporary dip at midday on heavy primary deliveries, the course of the market, on the whole, was upward. Developments concerning the visible supply tended to keep bullish sentiment vigorous and in the end exceeded the hopes of even the most sanguine friends of higher quotations. Stocks here were cut down to less than a third of the amount on hand a year ago. Specially evinced a noticeable disposition to get away from the short side of July wheat. In consequence, the spread between that future and September was cut to 1c against 2-4c at the close Saturday. Rumors of fresh Balkan complications and of some buying and, too, did further curtailment of probable yields in Kansas and Oklahoma. Primary receipts of wheat were 1,045,000 against 2,000,000 a year ago, seaboard clearances of wheat and flour equaled 1,000,000 barrels.

Corn rallied with wheat after an interval of weakness, the result of large receipts and favorable weather. The volume of pit trading was small.

Despite bullish cash by cash houses, oats climbed on account of well-grounded fears that the government report would show a lower condition than had been predicted.

Hog market fluctuations dominated the provision crowd. As usual of late, pork showed the greatest relative strength.

Visible Supply of Grain.

New York, June 9.—The visible supply of grain in the United States and Canada, as compiled by the New York Produce Exchange, was as follows:

Wheat, 34,650,000 bushels, decreased 3,257,000.

Corn, 4,092,000 bushels, decreased 520,000.

Oats, 4,397,000 bushels, increased 1,448,000.

Rye, 246,000 bushels, decreased 2,000.

Barley, 1,250,000 bushels, unchanged.

Barley in bond, 225,000 bushels, decreased 11,000.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, June 9.—Good rains fell in northern Texas and Oklahoma yesterday and also over the eastern belt, which is beginning to complain of too much moisture. We suppose the market would be lower on these advices, but it is not. Instead, it seems to be met before a rain has occurred. Some thought that Liverpool would be lower on account of the market here narrowed, but if so, it must have been on new crop months, as we do not know what Liverpool intends to do with the July. August and September months are not going to come in their conditions. If they should, the market would sag away, as they have been doing, for the past week or two. They may or they may not, no one knows.

Imports and Exports.

London, June 9.—The May statement of the Board of Trade shows increases of $31,056,000 in imports and $28,600 in exports. The principal increase in imports was in raw material and in articles in manufactured goods, of which cotton textiles gained $5,000,000.

STOCKS WERE AGAIN ON THE DOWN GRADE

Heaviness of Foreign Markets Principal Cause of the Decline.

New York, June 9.—The principal securities markets of the world were again under pressure today, and the movement of stocks here was sharply downward. Union Pacific, Steel, St. Paul and nearly seventy other stocks of all descriptions reached new low levels for the decline, and while some of the important shares remained above their previous bottom figures, there were substantial losses in all quarters.

Foreign markets were disturbed by the prospect of renewed hostilities in the Balkans and open uneasiness was felt in London regarding the approaching fortnight settlement. Under these circumstances further European selling here was regarded as natural. London disposed of perhaps 20,000 shares here in balance and there was some selling here on direct orders from the continent.

Pressure from abroad was an important factor in the markets' movement. Traders showed no desire to attempt to mark up prices here in the face of heaviness abroad, especially in view of the fact that should they succeed, they would merely be bidding out added inducements for further liquidation of European holdings of American stocks. Professional operators took advantage of the situation to sell stocks. They were helped by further liquidation of both the standard investment issues and low-priced shares.

Although the list was depressed, throughout the day pressure was not as severe as on some recent days of heavy liquidation and the market showed less evidence of nervousness.

Although the decrease of more than 5,000,000 pounds in surplus copper stocks shown in the May statement was regarded as favorable, it failed to come up to expectations of the trade, which had looked for a somewhat large contraction. Exports were lighter than had been forecast and production was unexpectedly large. This was offset, to some degree, however, by heavy deliveries to domestic consumers. The metal stocks were especially weak today, the copper shares declining with the steel group, but the monthly statement had little effect on quotations.

Bonds were weak. Total sales, par value, $2,040,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Money and Exchange.

New York, June 9.—Money on call steady; highest 2 per cent; lowest 2 per cent; ruling rate 2% per cent; last loan 2%, net rate; last bid 2%, last offered 3 per cent.

COLDEST JUNE WEATHER EVER KNOWN, 'TIS SAID

Washington, June 9.—The coldest weather ever recorded during June in the Middle Atlantic and New England states, the Ohio valley and the Great Lakes region was reported today to the weather bureau. The Gulf states are the only ones east of the Rockies to escape an unseasonable drop. "A high barometeric pressure of great magnitude" is the official reason. Frosts are reported in Vermont, central New York, New England, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin.
Frost are predicted for tonight in the Great Lakes region, the upper Ohio valley, the north Atlantic states and the mountain districts of the middle Atlantic states.

ALMOST EVERYBODY
EXPECTS TO OWN a home sometime sooner or later. When the time comes you will be surprised at the scarcity of suitable building lots and the great advancement in prices. Why not look around now, while the market affords such good opportunities?
JUST OFF Stewart Avenue, in a thoroughly established community, convenient to good car service, city school and large city park, we have a number of very desirable lots, 50x200 feet; also some brand-new bungalows that can be bought on very reasonable terms. Lots ranging in price, $900 to $1,200; bungalows, from $3,500 to $4,000.
Forrest and George Adair

FUMIGATION
Our system of fumigation is not surpassed by any furniture warehouse in the country. We use formaldehyde and potash, and each of our three buildings—one fireproof and the other slow-burning—are fumigated once each month.
